

Ohio Farmers Face Intangible Tax Campaign

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Ohio farmers, formerly immune from the state's intangible tax, may find themselves paying out as their city neighbors have been doing for years.

An intensified state Department of Taxation program now underway in Hancock County to enforce an intangible tax law on farmers has made it clear that subpoenas will be issued to grain elevators for records.

As of Thursday, 10 subpoenas have been issued in the state to grain elevators to open their records to tax auditors including two in Hancock County, according to Chris Whitaker, district coordinator of the delayed price grain contract tax program.

"A lot more subpoenas will be issued all around the state," Whitaker said. "Elevators want to let the customer know their hands are forced."

Subpoenas have been issued through district offices in Van Wert, Cincinnati and Columbus, Whitaker said.

The records are needed to determine which farmers haven't filed their intangible income on Schedule 10 of the personal income tax return.

Under an intangible tax law that dates back before the 1932 tax law provision, contracts made for grain on a delayed price agreement are the same as stocks, bonds and land contracts, which are also taxed at the base rate of three mills or $3 on every $1,000.

Basically, a farmer has two ways of dealing with a grain elevator: he can enter a storage contract for his grain and it remains his property tax exempt.

Or a farmer can enter a delayed price agreement. This means that upon delivery of the grain to an elevator, title to the grain is transferred by the farmer to the grain elevator and a delayed price agreement is entered into.

This agreement entitles a farmer to receive payment for his grain anytime he demands it, at the prevailing market price for that time.

"Converting grain to delayed price is like investing in stocks," said Hancock County Auditor Edward K. Hugus. "The grain loses its identity—it's a piece of paper and becomes taxable accounts receivable, like bonds, notes or land contracts."

Under the old intangible tax law that has never been applied to farmers, the Ohio tax department has instructed county auditors to collect taxes on grains that farmers have made delayed price agreements since those pacts are intangible property and taxable like stocks, bonds and land contracts.

Though Hancock is the first Ohio county where the old intangible tax law is being applied to farmers, state officials insist the county is not being singled out.

"This is a statewide program and we're trying to make it uniform throughout," said Whitaker, district coordinator of the program.

Most intangible taxes are used for libraries and disbursed at the county level. In the most current figures of revenues from the tax, the fiscal year 1972 collected $58 million in intangible tax.

Public utilities, financial institutions and insurance companies paid an additional $79 million.

The Ohio Grain Feed Fertilizer Association has met with the state tax department since the new program was announced in June, and has encouraged litigation by farmers.

Fair Attendance Sets New Mark

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Darrell Seilheimer of Springfield had a hair-raising experience at the Ohio State Fair—half his locks stood straight and another half lay flat against his skull. It was for fun.

"We use it as an attention getter," said Charles Proctor of the department of chemical and nuclear engineering at the University of Cincinnati.

Proctor explains in layman's language how a nuclear reactor creates electricity in a 30-minute talk at 11 a.m., 1, 3 and 5 p.m. in the Electric Building on the north fairgrounds.

Attendance at the fair Friday pushed the total past the record breaking mark set in 1973. Fair officials said 183,720 persons visited the exposition on its ninth day. The total so far is 1,700,912. That is 65,211 more than 1973 when 2,223,589 passed through the gates.

At the grandstand where fans have been seen to be raised from their seats by the entertainment, Bob Hope will perform this weekend.

Bo Donaldson and the Heywoods have a 4:30 p.m. show Saturday before Hope takes over the stage for performances at 8:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The group, whose first single release "Special Someone" hit national charts for four solid months, was originally from Cincinnati.

Hope, who has triumphed in vaudeville, stage, radio, motion pictures and television, has drawn record crowds to the state fair for five years from 1966 to 1970.

Also at Hope's shows, La Costa, "Miss Country Music Phoenix", will be seen. La Costa, a relatively new name in music, sings "I Wanna Get to You" and "This House Runs on Sunshine".

Also on Sunday, the finals in the Ohio State Fair Gospel Singing Contest will get underway. During intermissions, entertainment will be provided by the Rambos, a gospel singing family trio.

On Sunday, WRFD Radio Day, there will be a horse show, two holy masses, cake mix concoction contest, 4-H Invitational dog demonstration, Ohio State Fair Queen's luncheon, open class Swine showmanship, Brown Swiss Futurity, performing Border Collies, cupcake eating contest, All-Ohio State Fair Youth Symphony reunion, after-five style show, family arts and crafts awards, and Miss Ohio State Fair Queen pageant.

The final awards will be presented by the Ohio Commission on Aging on Saturday for prominent senior citizens to Carl Zimmerman, Brunswick; Dr. J. Paul Suvageot, Akron; Ruth Dessum, Kent; the Rev. Robert Tuck, Wooster; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Damon, Youngstown; Joseph Rushton, East Liverpool; Vincent Iacone, Youngstown; and Mrs. Clara Burkhardt, Leavittsburg.

Rat Develops 'Fat' Tooth During Research On Obesity

SEATTLE (AP) — You've heard of kids developing a 'sweet' tooth? Well, Monster is a rat with a 'fat' tooth.

In research at the University of Washington's department of psychology, normal rats are being turned into huge rats that do little more than eat and waddle about their cages.

The research is aimed at manipulating the part of a rat's brain that controls bodyweight, in an effort to understand how that section of the brain works in humans.

This is done by opening up the rat's skull with a dental drill and then shooting two small doses of electricity into the brain section known as the hypothalamus.

The resulting lesion is what changes the rat's eating habits.

A day after the anesthetized operation, "the rat recovers and starts eating like crazy," says Paul Kulkosky, a psychology graduate student.

"It develops a 'fat' tooth. What it likes best is Purina Rat Chow (yes, it really exists) mixed in with Crisco," he said.

The operation is supposed to simulate a rare-type of brain damage that affects humans and is known as the Frohlich Syndrome. People thus afflicted become obese, usually weighing more than 15 per cent over their normal body weight.

Dr. Stephen Woods, who heads the program, says extremely obese persons get fat because the brain sends out signals to the body to increase its fat content.

"Nobody know why that happens," he says. "But if we find out what signal the brain is sending, then we should be able to modify it."

Monster, as one experimental rat is called, now weighs two pounds, about four times that of a normal rat.

Kulkosky sticks his right hand in a thick leather glove and takes Monster out of its cage. The rat immediately begins biting the glove.

Gulf Hurricane Builds

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Caroline drifted toward the Texas coast today packing winds of 80 miles per hour, and forecasters warned it could strike anywhere along the Gulf Coast during the Labor Day weekend.

Early today the storm was at latitude 23.6 north and longitude 95 west, or 225 miles southeast of Brownsville, Tex. Movement was estimated at about 5 m.p.h. in a west-northwest direction.

Caroline sucked up strength from the warm Gulf of Mexico waters and began moving after being stationary for much of the night, forecasters said.

The new movement was not enough for forecasters to issue a warning for a specific area, but they said residents of southern Texas and northeastern Mexico should watch for riptides and some beach erosion.

Forecaster Joe Pelissier said that any minor shift in winds could set the storm in motion.

"The fact that the Gulf is an enclosed body of water means that it will make a landfall eventually somewhere, anywhere. Forecasting this one is not easy."

Dr. Neil Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center, warned residents of southern Texas and northeastern Mexico, the closest land areas to Caroline, to continue their vigilance.

He said he was concerned about holiday weekend pleasure seekers on the Texas coast getting out of touch with later warnings.

"There are going to be some people in their campers who head 40 or 50 or 60 miles away from everywhere," Frank said. "They get away from radio, TV, the newspapers. We don't want them trapped on the beaches."

Meanwhile, the hurricane center issued a formal warning to holiday boaters, saying that small craft in the western Gulf should not venture into open water.

Elsewhere in the nation, heavy thundershowers were reported overnight from the New England states into Missouri. Flash flood warnings were issued for portions of western New York State, southeastern Michigan and western Missouri.

One tornado, some large-size hail and considerable wind damage were reported in several areas of southwest Missouri during the night.

Buffalo, N.Y., reported 3½ inches of rain and thundershowers dumped 2 inches of rain on Detroit, Mich.

Other rainfall reported included isolated thundershowers over the eastern Dakotas, southern Florida and western Washington.

Mostly clear skies prevailed over other areas with temperatures near normal for the season.

It was in the 40s and 50s across the northern United States, along the Pacific coast and into the Rockies. But 60s and 70s prevailed elsewhere, with a few 80s in the Southwest desert areas.

Overnight lows ranged from 66 at Phoenix, Ariz., and Needles, Calif., to 43 at Limestone, Maine; Evanston, Wyo. and Kalispell, Mont.

Rhodes Signs 18 Major Laws For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans have 18 new laws, including open access to most meetings held by government agencies, as Gov. James A. Rhodes cleared his desk of mounting legislation in an end-of-the-week flurry of activity.

In addition to the open meetings bill, Rhodes signed measures Friday authorizing an $817 million capital improvements budget, and revising procedures for probate court which acts on estates.

The governor also approved the controversial equal yield school plan, but vetoed several key sections. He vetoed two other bills outright.

Most of the enactments were on Rhodes' desk for the 10th day and would have automatically become law today without his signature, had he not acted.

The new "sunshine law," nicknamed after the pioneer Florida statute, eliminates a loophole in the current law allowing government agencies to conduct "executive sessions."

Beginning Nov. 28, citizens can take injunctive court action against public servants who refuse to open their conference room doors.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Donald D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, allows exceptions, however, for the state legislature, political party caucuses, the parole authority and meetings for labor negotiations, security arrangements and personnel actions.

Officials who ignore court orders to open up meetings can face removal from office.

The record capital improvements budget contains $324.6 million for higher education, including a special $10 million payment for the University of Cincinnati, and $217 million for mental health.

Probate reform is an effort to assure that married persons get a fair share of their spouse's estate when no will is left.

Sponsored by Sen. David L. Headley, D-28 Barberton, it guarantees the first $30,000 of an unwilling estate to the surviving widow or widower. Under current law, the surviving spouse receives half of such estates, with the rest going to the children of the marriage.

The Headley plan increases from $10,000 to $15,000 the size of an estate that may be handled without legal administration, and raises probate court fees for the first time since 1956.

Rhodes vetoed bills to establish a nursing home commission and to set a ceiling on fees charged to those 65 and older on weekdays at state park golf courses.

The nursing home bills, sponsored by Rep. William L. Mallory, D-23 Cincinnati, would have set up a permanent advisory commission to review the operation and regulation of the state's 1,200 homes for the sick and aged.

Rhodes said the $600,000 appropriation for the commission was unreasonably high and a temporary committee would be better suited to meet the task.

He said the limit on golf course fees charged the elderly would cost the Department of Natural Resources $40,000 in the next two years, and would give state courses an unfair competitive edge over private links.

Other major bills signed by Rhodes included:

—Rep. Thomas M. Bell's (D-10 Cleveland) plan expanding requirements to report child abuse or neglect, and calling for a coordinated plan between law enforcement officials and child care agencies in handling abuse cases. The bill establishes and defines the new category of "abused child" in juvenile court law.

—A bill sponsored by Rep. Paul S. Wingard, R-40 Stowe, relieving motorists of the obligation to stop on a four-lane or larger highway for school buses picking up or dropping off children in opposite direction lanes. The rule remains for two-lane roadways and on all streets when the car and bus are heading in the same direction.

—Sen. Charles L. Butts' (D-23 Cleveland) bill requiring instruction in venereal disease to be included in public school health education courses.

—A bill sponsored by Sen. Ben M. Gaeth, R-1 Defiance, requiring most highway billboard advertising to be at least 3,000 feet from a right-of-way in compliance with federal law.

—A bill sponsored by Rep. Kenneth R. Cox, D-41 Barberton, allowing state universities and colleges to substitute other free days for President's Day, Columbus Day or Martin Luther King Day.

—A bill sponsored by Rep. Don S. Maddux, D-90 Lancaster, that drops the stipulation that election officers must receive training before every general election and primary.

—Legislation authored by Rep. Vernon F. Cook, D-39 Cuyahoga Falls, requiring the Superintendent of Banks to set an annual examination assessment for banks, with a maximum of 10 cents per $1,000 of an institution's total assets.

—Rep. Gene Branstool's (D-1 Utica) proposal to restrict the fox hunting season to Nov. 15 through March 1 and do away with the authority to county commissioners to offer bounty on foxes.

—Legislation written by Sen. Timothy J. McCormack, D-31 Euclid, that a defendant, committed to an institution for the mentally ill, can be transferred to a civil facility if it is unlikely he will be able to stand trial in the foreseeable future.

—Sen. Robert T. Secrest's (D-20 Cambridge) bill to expand the state Medical Board from eight to nine members to include a podiatrist.

—A bill sponsored by Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, allowing four or more libraries in a metropolitan area of at least 250,000 to form a metropolitan library system, eligible for public funding from the state Library Board.

Gilligan Pays Legal Bills For Aides

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. John J. Gilligan said he felt an obligation to use $16,000 to reimburse 11 so-called "phantom employees" as well as paying their court costs, his office said Friday.

The money came out of surplus funds of the Recount Planning Committee after a postelection report was filed, the former governor said.

"As governor and candidate, even though I had no knowledge of the hiring practices, I was responsible for the conduct of the Recount Planning Committee and consider it appropriate to see that the committee meets its legal obligations and those who worked on the recount receive the payment for services promised to them nine months ago," Gilligan said in a statement issued by his office.

Money to pay a reduced $2,500 fine was delivered to William J. Bannon, chairman of the Recount Planning Group and one of Gilligan's chief campaign lieutenants.

The committee also issued $900 checks for four and one half weeks' work to 11 of its employees.

The 11 were convicted in Franklin County Common Pleas Court of misdemeanor theft charges while the recount group pleaded guilty to a grand theft indictment.

School Aid Law Becomes Reality

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An equalized plan for providing basic state aid to public schools has finally become a reality, but Gov. James A. Rhodes vetoed several key sections of the education bill before affixing his signature.

Rhodes' line-item vetoes will have no direct effect on the flow of state dollars to Ohio's 617 school districts during the current biennium.

Line-item vetoes are permissible only in legislation containing appropriations. The equal yield bill does not contain dollar amounts, but Rhodes' aides justified his action because it specifies how money in the state budget should be spent for primary and secondary education.

Rhodes struck down mandated increases in teachers' salaries extending through the 1978-79 school year.

"This provision is another example of an attempt by the General Assembly to set requirements for local boards of education for which the General Assembly has provided no revenue," he said in his veto message.

Raises for teachers that will lift annual base starting pay from $6,400 to $7,400 this year and to $7,900 in the 1976-77 school year remained intact.

The Ohio Education Association, representing 80,000 teachers, called the veto "a slap in the face to those legislators and educators who worked long and hard to upgrade public school finance in this state. The announcement is clearly antiteacher and antieducation."

The equal yield plan bases state aid on local real estate tax effort and attempts to offset disparities in property valuations by guaranteeing that a mill of tax has the same value throughout the state.

The new formula, effective in December, guarantees the state will provide enough money to produce $48 per pupil per mill for the first 20 mills levied locally, and $42 for each additional mill up to 30.

The legislation was probably the single most controversial bill before the 111th General Assembly. Widespread opposition evaporated when proponents agreed to remove a section that would have eliminated some property tax rollbacks.

Some districts could lose school aid as a result of the rollbacks which would lower local tax rates and, necessarily, proportionate state aid.

Rhodes vetoed a section designed to pump this saving to the state back to the schools. He said state savings from rollbacks and enrollment decreases were "hypothetical" and the method of distribution premature.

The governor also rejected:

—A mandated decrease in the current 28.5-1 pupil teacher ratio to 25-1 by the 1978-79 biennium because "no appropriation was made to support such staffing requirements."

—A requirement that Ohioans list their school districts on state income tax returns. Rhodes said implementation could cost the tax department $750,000 over the next two years.

—A section authorizing the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to accept proposals from local boards of education an urban education pilot project.

He also issued two technical vetoes.

"These vetoes are consistent with my determination to assist every public institution and agency in this state to conduct its public duties in a fiscally responsible manner," the governor said.

JUST WAITING—This youngster is apparently seeking solace by seclusion in this peaceful noon-time fishing effort in the old canal. One of the possible reasons is that all school in Pickaway County will reopen their doors Tuesday for the 1975 year, ending a summer vacation that is always "too short."

Ohio Farmers Face Intangible Tax Campaign

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Ohio farmers, formerly immune from the state's intangible tax, may find themselves paying out as their city neighbors have been doing for years.

An intensified state Department of Taxation program now underway in Hancock County to enforce an intangible tax law on farmers has made it clear that subpoenas will be issued to grain elevators for records.

As of Thursday, 10 subpoenas have been issued in the state to grain elevators to open their records to tax auditors including two in Hancock County, according to Chris Whitaker, district coordinator of the delayed price grain contract tax program.

"A lot more subpoenas will be issued all around the state," Whitaker said. "Elevators want to let the customer know their hands are forced."

Subpoenas have been issued through district offices in Van Wert, Cincinnati and Columbus, Whitaker said.

The records are needed to determine which farmers haven't filed their intangible income on Schedule 10 of the personal income tax return.

Under an intangible tax law that dates back before the 1932 tax law provision, contracts made for grain on a delayed price agreement are the same as stocks, bonds and land contracts, which are also taxed at the base rate of three mills or $3 on every $1,000.

Basically, a farmer has two ways of dealing with a grain elevator: he can enter a storage contract for his grain and it remains his property tax exempt.

Or a farmer can enter a delayed price agreement. This means that upon delivery of the grain to an elevator, title to the grain is transferred by the farmer to the grain elevator and a delayed price agreement is entered into.

This agreement entitles a farmer to receive payment for his grain anytime he demands it, at the prevailing market price for that time.

"Converting grain to delayed price is like investing in stocks," said Hancock County Auditor Edward K. Hugas. "The grain loses its identity—it's a piece of paper and becomes taxable accounts receivable, like bonds, notes or land contracts."

Under the old intangible tax law that has never been applied to farmers, the Ohio tax department has instructed county auditors to collect taxes on grains that farmers have made delayed price agreements since those pacts are intangible property and taxable like stocks, bonds and land contracts.

Though Hancock is the first Ohio county where the old intangible tax law is being applied to farmers, state officials insist the county is not being singled out.

"This is a statewide program and we're trying to make it uniform throughout," said Whitaker, district coordinator of the program.

Most intangible taxes are used for libraries and disbursed at the county level. In the most current figures of revenues from the tax, the fiscal year 1972 collected $58 million in intangible tax.

Public utilities, financial institutions and insurance companies paid an additional $79 million.

The Ohio Grain Feed Fertilizer Association has met with the state tax department since the new program was announced in June, and has encouraged litigation by farmers.

Gilligan Pays Legal Bills For Aides

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. John J. Gilligan said he felt an obligation to use $16,000 to reimburse 11 so-called "phantom employees" as well as paying their court costs, his office said Friday.

The money came out of surplus funds of the Recount Planning Committee after a postelection report was filed, the former governor said.

"As governor and candidate, even though I had no knowledge of the hiring practices, I was responsible for the conduct of the Recount Planning Committee and consider it appropriate to see that the committee meets its legal obligations and those who worked on the recount receive the payment for services promised to them nine months ago," Gilligan said in a statement issued by his office.

Money to pay a reduced $2,500 fine was delivered to William J. Bannon, chairman of the Recount Planning Group and one of Gilligan's chief campaign lieutenants.

The committee also issued $900 checks for four and one half weeks' work to 11 of its employees.

The 11 were convicted in Franklin County Common Pleas Court of misdemeanor theft charges while the recount group pleaded guilty to a grand theft indictment.

School Aid Law Becomes Reality

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An equalized plan for providing basic state aid to public schools has finally become a reality, but Gov. James A. Rhodes vetoed several key sections of the education bill before affixing his signature.

Rhodes' line-item vetoes will have no direct effect on the flow of state dollars to Ohio's 617 school districts during the current biennium.

Line-item vetoes are permissible only in legislation containing appropriations. The equal yield bill does not contain dollar amounts, but Rhodes' aides justified his action because it specifies how money in the state budget should be spent for primary and secondary education.

Rhodes struck down mandated increases in teachers' salaries extending through the 1978-79 school year.

"This provision is another example of an attempt by the General Assembly to set requirements for local boards of education for which the General Assembly has provided no revenue," he said in his veto message.

Raises for teachers that will lift annual base starting pay from $6,400 to $7,400 this year and to $7,900 in the 1976-77 school year remained intact.

The Ohio Education Association, representing 80,000 teachers, called the veto "a slap in the face to those legislators and educators who worked long and hard to upgrade public school finance in this state. The announcement is clearly antiteacher and antieducation."

The equal yield plan bases state aid on local real estate tax effort and attempts to offset disparities in property valuations by guaranteeing that a mill of tax has the same value throughout the state.

Pocket More Dollars With High Moisture Soybean Harvest

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Pocket more dollars by harvesting soybeans at a higher moisture content, says William Schnug, Extension agricultural engineer at The Ohio State University. Even more money can be saved by having a drying bin on the farm.

Schnug says combine soybeans when their moisture content exceeds 14 per cent, with 17 per cent to 18 per cent being the maximum. This will reduce shatter loss and field mold damage. Combining at a higher moisture level also allows a longer harvest day, cleaner air and cleaner grain. Night harvest extends day harvest time and speeds the operation enough to allow for timely corn harvest.

Shatter loss can rob you of 1.5 bushels per acre, depending on bean moisture, type of combine header used and height of pod set, Schnug says.

With the conventional four-inch cutting height and harvesting at 12 per cent moisture content or less, machine loss averages 10 per cent of the crop or nearly 3 bushels per acre, and shatter loss comprises 45 per cent of the total machine loss. By adding a floating cutter bar and leaving a stubble height of 1.5 inches, total machine loss is reduced to about four per cent of the yield or 1.2 bushels per acre with beans of 12 per cent moisture or less. Shatter loss is reduced to .8 bushels per acre.

Harvesting beans with 14 per cent or higher moisture content and cutting at 1.5 inches reduces total machine loss two per cent, or about .6 bushels per acre. Shatter loss decreases to .3 bushels per acre.

Therefore, by harvesting beans with a 1.5 inch cut and 14 per cent moisture content instead of 12 per cent, the farmer is saving nearly $3.60 per acre, if soybeans are selling at $6 a bushel.

Higher moisture content harvest reduces splitting, too. Prices are docked if excessive splitting occurs.

Schnug says a drying bin on the farm is economical. With the bin system, 13 to 16 per cent soybeans can be dried in one week and 18 per cent beans in 10 days. The cost is about 2.5 cents per bushel, including energy and handling costs. The bin can also be used for corn, so operating costs can be spread.

The most practical system is a bin with a perforated floor. Use a fan capacity of 1 cubic foot per minute per bushel of unheated air or air heated a maximum of 10 degrees. Drying soybeans with air heated more than that causes seed coat cracking and general deterioration.

JERRY DRUMMOND

Jerry Drummond of Ross County was among over 50 individuals honored at this year's 4-H Recognition Day Breakfast in the Rhodes Center at the Ohio State Fair.

Jerry was cited as the winner of the health improvement award given by Eli Lilly Co. In addition to the honorary breakfast for the winners and their parents this award included a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Jerry has been a member of the Jolly Beef Feeders 4-H Club in Clarksburg for nine years. He has carried projects in swine, beef and junior leadership.

He has also served as president of the club, delegate to the state junior leader camp, and counselor at Tar Hollow. He is a member of Pontious United Methodist Church where he is an usher. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drummond, Route 1, Clarksburg.

with a moisture content higher than 16 per cent because the batch and continuous flow dryers elevators use are not suitable for the slow drying necessary for soybeans. Beans for sale can be taken to the elevator at 14 to 16 per cent moisture, but be sure drying cost and dockage do not exceed the savings realized by harvesting at that moisture level.

4-H...People Helping People

By LESLIE PARSONS
4-H Program Assistant

One way 4-H members can participate in 4-H on a state level is through the 4-H Cloverama held at The Ohio State Fair. At Cloverama, 4-H groups of youth in cooperation with adult leaders and Extension personnel show, through exhibit and demonstration, ways they have improved their lives through 4-H.

Two groups from Pickaway County went to 4-H Cloverama, Aug. 24. The Nicholas Drive Life Science Club demonstrated their knowledge of the human body systems by telling the audience of their pilot project in dissection of a fetal pig and earthworms. Each participant talked about his individual project dealing with the digestive, respiratory and skeletal systems of the human body, the fetal pig and earthworms. Lonnie Dean, Mark Gerhardt, Bonnie Hinton, Mark Sherman, Peggy North and Brad Fox represented the club at 4-H Cloverama.

The Good Neighbors Club is a pilot project club dealing with the medical field and how it relates to the community. Tammy Hanley, Molly Hamrick, Melissa Archer and Brenda Bolender talked to their Cloverama audience about what they had learned this year in CPR, drugs and alcohol abuse, prenatal and maternal care, nursing careers, and many other areas in the medical and community service fields.

All 4-H Cloverama participants received fair participation ribbons and a monetary zone award. I am very proud of both of these clubs for the outstanding job they did at Cloverama, and for their fine representation of the Pickaway County 4-H program.

Congratulations to these two clubs, and to all 4-H'ers for the great work they did this year!

No Set-Aside Requirement For 1976 Crops

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said there will be no set-aside requirement for the 1976 Feed Grain & Wheat Programs. It will be the third consecutive year for the Feed Grain and Wheat Programs in which no set-aside was required.

Feed grain and wheat producers are not being encouraged to take cropland out of production next year, Department officials explain, because even though this year's corn and wheat crops are expected to be at record levels, export demand is strong.

As announced in 1973, there will be no conserving base requirement for the duration of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 (through the 1977 crop year). The Secretary announced also at that time that effective through the 1977 crop year he will not use his discretionary authority to limit feed grain and wheat plantings to a percentage of allotments.

In 1976, as in the present year, producers may substitute any non-conserving crop (except marketing quota crops) or any conserving crop (including approved volunteer cover)

Incentive Was Always Needed For Farmer To Produce More

"Give us a market and remunerating prices and we can raise an amount of produce that will astonish the world."

Does this sound like something a modern-day mechanized farmer might say as he makes his cropping plans in the mid-1970's?

Actually the statement was made well over a century ago by a farmer in Scottsville, N.Y.

Solon Backs Grain Sale To Russia

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— U.S. Rep. Thomas Kindness, R-Ohio, said the public has been misled on the Russian grain sales deal by "demagoguery and misinformation."

The Hamilton, Ohio Republican defended the sales calling them "vital to the American farmer and a needed boost to our international balance of payments, the U.S. economy and the American dollar."

Kindness said U.S. wheat production this year is estimated at nearly 2.2 billion bushels, only 800 million bushels of which are needed by the United States.

Kindness said only 183 million bushels of the estimated 1.4 billion surplus would go to Russia under terms of the current plan.

In addition, the Russians would buy 4.7 million tons of corn and 600,000 tons of oats.

"The sale of 9.8 million tons of grain to Russia should be considered normal and good business today, since the Russians will be paying the world market price for the grain, and paying for it in cash," Kindness said.

Unless the producers are free to sell produce in world markets, the U.S. is likely to have a negative trade balance, which will lead to further devaluation of the American dollar on the international monetary exchange, Kindness said.

"That would cost the American consumer far more in inflation than the price of wheat will ever cost us," he said.

Mail Rates On Way Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Postal Service looking forward to raising mail rates to 13 cents a letter, Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar says the service "cannot continue to operate" if it is kept from raising rates for long periods.

Bailar spoke after the Postal Rate Commission concluded action Thursday on a two-year-old request by the Postal Service to make the present "temporary" 10-cent letter rate permanent. While the commission has been considering the case, mail rates have been frozen despite postal deficits that have reached $8 million per day.

The commission's recommendation to make the present letter rate permanent was necessary under the law before the Postal Service can increase rates on a temporary basis to 13 cents. Bailar said in advance of the decision that the rate would be increased to 13 cents after the commission action.

Bailar, who has been saying since he took office in February that the Postal Service needs higher rates, renewed his criticism of the commission in a statement.

"I am pleased that the process of this rate case is finally over after nearly two years of discussion and deliberation," he said. "The Postal Service cannot continue to operate if necessary rate adjustments cannot be made until long after they are needed."

It illustrates that incentive was always a major consideration in the minds of farmers in planning their agricultural production levels.

The New York State farmer went on to say that he was gratified to see a better system of farming taking the place of the old, careless and slovenly method previously followed in Western New York.

"This is to be attributed chiefly to the liberal prices obtained for our produce for the last few years, thereby producing in the farmer a stimulus to exertion, which he does not often feel when prices are so low as barely to pay the cost of production," he said.

His comments were echoed by another farmer from Dorchester County, Md.

"The last 10 years have been marked by a decided reformation in the farming operations of this county," he wrote.

He cited how the most primitive agricultural implements have been replaced by equipment, such as the Drag-harrow. Manuring was then looked upon as an idle loss of time and money, he said.

"But now, how things have changed. Every farmer is striving to outstrip his neighbor in the largest yield of crops, in manuring and in all the improvements in farm machinery."

Today as the American farmer is again called upon to play an ever larger roll in helping to feed a hungry world, these words of a century and a quarter ago are more timely than ever.

As back in the 1850's, the farmer is ready to do the job that needs to be done. All he needs is the incentive in the form of a fair and balanced return for his increased effort.

Don't forget Pickaway County Farm Heritage Days, Sept. 20-21.

Cleveland Air Worst In Region

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Clevelanders know they sometimes breathe dirty air, but now a federal environmental official has told them just how dirty it is.

David Kee, chief of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in Chicago, said Thursday that Cleveland has the dirtiest air of the major cities in a six-state region which includes Chicago and Detroit.

"Ohio is very much a black mark in our environmental program in the Midwest," he said. "Our compliance there is very low. It's the worst of our states."

Kee said the agency's efforts to clean the air have been thwarted by court decision in favor of utility and steel companies which he said are the worst polluters.

The states in the region are Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Indiana.

Kee's comments came after the Northern Ohio Lung Association filed a complaint in U.S. District Court here Thursday, charging that Ohio's Environmental Protection Agency has allowed violations of the federal Clean Air Act and that the federal government has failed to enforce compliance.

"Cleveland is our dirtiest big city in the region," Klee said. "And that's very significant because that means the population exposed to the very filthy air there is the largest because of the population density."

Evacuations From Angola May Cost U.S. $40 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say American assistance to evacuate Portuguese whites from strife-torn Angola will be furnished "expeditiously and urgently" and that the evacuation could cost as much as $40 million.

Rival African groups in Angola have been fighting among themselves for control of the oil-rich Portuguese colony which is scheduled to become independent Nov. 11, and Portuguese forces there have been unable to guarantee the safety of the white population.

The State Department said Thursday that Portuguese President Francisco da Costa Gomes wrote President Ford on Wednesday and asked for American aid in the evacuation.

Pentagon sources estimate it would cost at least $40 million to airlift the remaining 150,000 white settlers from Angola to Portugal.

An important unresolved question is whether African countries would permit airlift planes to fly over their territory enroute. If not, sources say the planes probably would have to fly a dogleg out beyond the bulge of West Africa on an over-water route nearly double the 2,000-mile straight-line distance from Luanda to Lisbon.

State Department spokesman Robert Funseth said the evacuation aid would be carried out "expeditiously and urgently" but gave no specifics. Funseth said money to pay for the operation would come out of disaster relief funds.

However, other State Department sources say there is only about $8 million left in the fund. Therefore, it is unclear how the rest of the financing would be covered.

Anticipating possible orders to mount an airlift, military planners have been studying the problem for some time. Their estimate of more than $40 million is based on an air evacuation of all 150,000 Portuguese whites still in Angola.

Some 50,000 of them were reported by State Department sources as prepared to stay on, but U.S. planners may have to make provision for the larger number in case many of these settlers change their minds.

By now many of you are aware of the fact that I have received some reports of canning jars exploding and/or not sealing. It is so unfortunate for a thing like this to happen when so many people are canning, especially beginners. Canning is a very safe, rewarding, and thrifty skill, and I hope folks don't get discouraged. Keep in mind that between two and three million lids were produced, and of course thousands of jars, for the greatest demand since the thirties. Not all canning jars are bad. Some of you have reported that you had no trouble with them. As with most huge shipments of merchandise, some were bad, but most were good.

The Consumer Products Safety Commission is investigating the problem and working with the distributor to determine which were the shipments containing faulty jars. I have had many reports from gals who purchased the jars here in Circleville, and a couple whose jars were purchased in Chillicothe.

To report jars that have exploded, write or call Mr. George Gaymon, Supervisor, U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission, 21046 Brookpark Road, Cleveland, Ohio 44135. His phone number is 1-216-522-3886. He will want to know how many exploded and under what conditions. Some explode in the canner, some have exploded days later. Pints or quarts? Description of the jar so he can tell which glass company made them.

In the meantime, what should you do? There has been no alert or recall mentioned in the news yet because, first of all, this isn't happening everywhere, just in three counties so far reported, and a case in Michigan (perhaps someone came through here on vacation and bought jars!) Remember most of these jars are good. But jars have burst while being used by almost a dozen women here. One in our county was badly burned. Others are not sealing properly. Others have had no trouble. I recommend that you hold your jars until the distributor can determine which cases were good. I am doing this with mine.

I feel confident the manufacturers will resolve this difficulty, just as last year a lid manufacturer resolved a bad batch of lid sealant. When we are all demanding canning supplies, it would be unfortunate to discourage a new company. But we don't want anyone else hurt, either.

Many of you are still calling about crystalline citric acid monohydrate. Remember this is the substance OSU recommends for your tomatoes, especially those lower in acid. In case you missed it several weeks ago, you can send for 100 citric acid tablets for $1.25 (postpaid) to: Dr. Gould, Food Tech Club, Howlett Hall, The Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio 43210. This is a nonprofit service set up to supply canners who could not get the citric acid from local pharmacies.

Butz Defends Grain Exports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Export of American farm products was necessary to avoid a return to government subsidies for non-production, U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz said today.

At a news conference at the Ohio State Fair, Butz said two-thirds of the American wheat crop was available for export, one-fourth of its field grains, half of its soybeans and 40 per cent of its cotton.

President John F. Kennedy established the Peace Corps in 1961 and proposed and alliance for progress.

Incentive Was Always Needed For Farmer To Produce More

"Give us a market and remunerating prices and we can raise an amount of produce that will astonish the world."

Does this sound like something a modern-day mechanized farmer might say as he makes his cropping plans in the mid-1970's?

Actually the statement was made well over a century ago by a farmer in Scottsville, N.Y.

Solon Backs Grain Sale To Russia

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— U.S. Rep. Thomas Kindness, R-Ohio, said the public has been misled on the Russian grain sales deal by "demagoguery and misinformation."

The Hamilton, Ohio Republican defended the sales calling them "vital to the American farmer and a needed boost to our international balance of payments, the U.S. economy and the American dollar."

Kindness said U.S. wheat production this year is estimated at nearly 2.2 billion bushels, only 800 million bushels of which are needed by the United States.

Kindness said only 183 million bushels of the estimated 1.4 billion surplus would go to Russia under terms of the current plan.

In addition, the Russians would buy 4.7 million tons of corn and 600,000 tons of oats.

"The sale of 9.8 million tons of grain to Russia should be considered normal and good business today, since the Russians will be paying the world market price for the grain, and paying for it in cash," Kindness said.

Unless the producers are free to sell produce in world markets, the U.S. is likely to have a negative trade balance, which will lead to further devaluation of the American dollar on the international monetary exchange, Kindness said.

"That would cost the American consumer far more in inflation than the price of wheat will ever cost us," he said.

Mail Rates On Way Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Postal Service looking forward to raising mail rates to 13 cents a letter, Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar says the service "cannot continue to operate" if it is kept from raising rates for long periods.

Bailar spoke after the Postal Rate Commission concluded action Thursday on a two-year-old request by the Postal Service to make the present "temporary" 10-cent letter rate permanent. While the commission has been considering the case, mail rates have been frozen despite postal deficits that have reached $8 million per day.

The commission's recommendation to make the present letter rate permanent was necessary under the law before the Postal Service can increase rates on a temporary basis to 13 cents. Bailar said in advance of the decision that the rate would be increased to 13 cents after the commission action.

Bailar, who has been saying since he took office in February that the Postal Service needs higher rates, renewed his criticism of the commission in a statement.

"I am pleased that the process of this rate case is finally over after nearly two years of discussion and deliberation," he said. "The Postal Service cannot continue to operate if necessary rate adjustments cannot be made until long after they are needed."

It illustrates that incentive was always a major consideration in the minds of farmers in planning their agricultural production levels.

The New York State farmer went on to say that he was gratified to see a better system of farming taking the place of the old, careless and slovenly method previously followed in Western New York.

"This is to be attributed chiefly to the liberal prices obtained for our produce for the last few years, thereby producing in the farmer a stimulus to exertion, which he does not often feel when prices are so low as barely to pay the cost of production," he said.

His comments were echoed by another farmer from Dorchester County, Md.

"The last 10 years have been marked by a decided reformation in the farming operations of this county," he wrote.

He cited how the most primitive agricultural implements have been replaced by equipment, such as the Drag-harrow. Manuring was then looked upon as an idle loss of time and money, he said.

"But now, how things have changed. Every farmer is striving to outstrip his neighbor in the largest yield of crops, in manuring and in all the improvements in farm machinery."

Today as the American farmer is again called upon to play an ever larger roll in helping to feed a hungry world, these words of a century and a quarter ago are more timely than ever.

As back in the 1850's, the farmer is ready to do the job that needs to be done. All he needs is the incentive in the form of a fair and balanced return for his increased effort.

Don't forget Pickaway County Farm Heritage Days, Sept. 20-21.

Cleveland Air Worst In Region

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Clevelanders know they sometimes breathe dirty air, but now a federal environmental official has told them just how dirty it is.

David Kee, chief of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in Chicago, said Thursday that Cleveland has the dirtiest air of the major cities in a six-state region which includes Chicago and Detroit.

"Ohio is very much a black mark in our environmental program in the Midwest," he said. "Our compliance there is very low. It's the worst of our states."

Kee said the agency's efforts to clean the air have been thwarted by court decision in favor of utility and steel companies which he said are the worst polluters.

The states in the region are Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Indiana.

Kee's comments came after the Northern Ohio Lung Association filed a complaint in U.S. District Court here Thursday, charging that Ohio's Environmental Protection Agency has allowed violations of the federal Clean Air Act and that the federal government has failed to enforce compliance.

"Cleveland is our dirtiest big city in the region," Klee said. "And that's very significant because that means the population exposed to the very filthy air there is the largest because of the population density."

Evacuations From Angola May Cost U.S. $40 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say American assistance to evacuate Portuguese whites from strife-torn Angola will be furnished "expeditiously and urgently" and that the evacuation could cost as much as $40 million.

Rival African groups in Angola have been fighting among themselves for control of the oil-rich Portuguese colony which is scheduled to become independent Nov. 11, and Portuguese forces there have been unable to guarantee the safety of the white population.

The State Department said Thursday that Portuguese President Francisco da Costa Gomes wrote President Ford on Wednesday and asked for American aid in the evacuation.

Pentagon sources estimate it would cost at least $40 million to airlift the remaining 150,000 white settlers from Angola to Portugal.

An important unresolved question is whether African countries would permit airlift planes to fly over their territory enroute. If not, sources say the planes probably would have to fly a dogleg out beyond the bulge of West Africa on an over-water route nearly double the 2,000-mile straight-line distance from Luanda to Lisbon.

State Department spokesman Robert Funseth said the evacuation aid would be carried out "expeditiously and urgently" but gave no specifics. Funseth said money to pay for the operation would come out of disaster relief funds.

However, other State Department sources say there is only about $8 million left in the fund. Therefore, it is unclear how the rest of the financing would be covered.

Anticipating possible orders to mount an airlift, military planners have been studying the problem for some time. Their estimate of more than $40 million is based on an air evacuation of all 150,000 Portuguese whites still in Angola.

Some 50,000 of them were reported by State Department sources as prepared to stay on, but U.S. planners may have to make provision for the larger number in case many of these settlers change their minds.

A Page Of Opinion

The Kent State Decision

Five long years after the event, the shootings at Kent State University on May 4, 1970 has passed another milestone with "not guilty" findings for all defendants.

Whether one agrees or disagrees with the verdict is not, however, the subject of this column.

More important than the verdict, the shootings or any other matter connected with the case is the disruption of legal procedure.

Witness the cries of "Sham" and "No Justice" heard in the courtroom, and the threatening of bodily harm to a juror's family if he did not vote the way some self-appointed vigilante desired. Indeed, the jurors were escorted individually to their homes by U.S. marshals because of the furor, both during and after the trial.

The United States is supposedly a nation based on laws. The jury system is to guarantee a fair hearing of charges and a decision based on those laws and questions of evidence.

It is shameful and disgusting that some persons cannot accept a verdict that does not agree with their feelings and prejudices. Such malicious conduct should, in itself, be the basis for prosecution if this nation is to maintain the integrity of its judicial process.

Chappaquiddick

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

CHAPPAQUIDDICK, MASS. — Sick sightseers continue to peel away souvenir bits of the tiny wooden bridge which six years ago cost a mousey secretary named Mary Jo Kopechne her life and Sen. Ted Kennedy the Presidency of the United States. Sheepish tourists drawn to this eerie islet count it the highlight of their trip when they pose for pictures on the humpbacked little span over whose inches-high railing the death car plunged, triggering endless speculation and affecting the ebbs and tides of recent political history.

Today, there are almost as many versions as to exactly what happened, and why, as there are splinters to steal. Two new books are on the shelves of the land, one an out-and-out hatchet job on the Senator, the other a transparent novel about a proper British inspector sifting every rumor, every wild guess, as if searching for gold on the sands of the lonely, deserted beach the car so nearly reached. There will be more books to come, plus more long anniversary articles and tracts. Witness the compulsive flow of wrangling words about the deaths of two of the Senator's elder brothers.

The notable exceptions in the continuing harangue and common gossip over "Chappaquiddick," which became a generic word in the American language before "Watergate," are the handful of persons actually involved: the single girls and married men at the party that preceded Miss Kopechne's death by drowning. They underwent legal grillings about as severe as motorists charged with over-parking. The mother and father of the dead girl have been extraordinarily forgiving.

As for the Senator, he has said all he intends to say about this particular albatross among the flock he seems to have been destined to carry around his neck since being born into one of the most extraordinary American families. In a quick in-and-out court appearance at nearby Edgartown, after the collapse of a palpably implausible "cover" story constructed by his friends, and perhaps by himself, he pleaded guilty of leaving the scene of an accident but was not held responsible for the death of the quiet little secretary.

Without Chappaquiddick, he almost certainly would have won the Democratic nomination in 1972. His brother Robert, who had waged a gallant and exciting campaign, had been assassinated by Sirhan Sirhan. Ted's handling of the funeral and his eulogy at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York was superb. Leonard Bernstein's strings mourned softly and Andy Williams sadly sang at the touching services. There was a candlelight burial at Arlington National Cemetery, held by the eternal flame fluttering over JFK's grave. Had Ted come forth at the 1972 Convention, he would have received the same waves of endless adulation as had immersed, silenced, and brought tears to the eyes of Bobby the 1964 night in Atlantic City when he tried to say a few words to the delegates about his dead brother John. McGovern would not have had a chance. Nixon would have been in big trouble.

Now the polls insist that, despite everything, he is No. 1 on the list of Democratic challengers to President Ford in '76. This could be a mark of the fact that seldom if ever in the history of the Democratic Party has there been a duller, more colorless, more stupid bunch of aspirants. If they were a ballclub, they couldn't beat the House of David. But Teddy has said repeatedly that he wants no part of it; he has uttered statements that make Gen. Sherman's classic rejection sound positively evasive.

Why does the Democratic Party want this star-crossed tragedian? There are many reasons, one supposes: he has the name of a winner; he is more hip than any cornball in the GOP; he made sense in civil rights and the Vietnam War; he sounds like Jack, and the young voters think Chappaquiddick was an Indian chief or is a new type of bubble-gum.

Nevertheless, it would take a miracle to deposit the nomination on Ted Kennedy, a miracle immense enough to overcome his own understandable reluctance and the qualms of the older members of the party. He would have to dispose successfully of Chappaquiddick before a huge and partisan national TV audience, and much more convincingly than Richard Nixon, who stayed afloat after his sentimental Checkers speech. Ted Kennedy is in no mood to go into the details of Chappaquiddick. Only the people who come here to browse in the ruins, his ruins, seem to be.

If there had to be a tragedy of this kind, Chappaquiddick was a perfect backdrop. It dotes on reclusiveness, moors and impenetrable fog. The only way to reach it from Martha's Vineyard, which is about an 8-iron shot away, is by a dinky little ferry that can carry only three cars, a passel of cyclists and a few pedestrians. Unless, of course, you know a guy with a skiff. The trip, which lasts a good four minutes, costs cars $1.35, but more at night.

Ted Kennedy, after his reported dives for the entrapped Miss Kopechne, his curious refusal to go immediately thereafter to a house or two nearby and call for help, and his return to the rented house where the "singles" party was still in progress, was driven to this little ferry, found it closed down for the night, swam the short distance to Edgartown, walked to his inn, then made an appearance at 2:30 in the morning in its lobby, in dry clothes, to protest the noise of another party at the inn.

Well, you should hear the rest of the many stories that abound around-about. And probably will.

Car Held As Clue To Hoffa

DETROIT (AP) — A court fight has begun over the custody of a car driven on the day Jimmy Hoffa disappeared. There were reports that trained dogs detected scents of the ex-Teamsters boss in the auto.

The car's owner, Joseph Giacalone, 22, son of reputed Detroit Mafia figure Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone, filed a request in U.S. District Court Thursday seeking the return of his car. The auto was seized by the FBI on Aug. 9 and remains in federal custody.

However, a federal prosecutor said investigators have refused to release the car because it may hold a clue to the fate of the 62-year-old Hoffa, who dropped from sight on July 30.

Hoffa's foster son, Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, whom officials consider a central figure in the case, has said he drove young Giacalone's car near where Hoffa vanished at about the time Hoffa disappeared.

Robert Ozer, who heads the U.S. Attorney's Organized Crime Strike Force here, said authorities could not hold the car if it had no "evidentiary value" in the case, but he declined to say what that value might be.

Sources close to the investigation said that trained dogs used by the FBI detected Hoffa's scent in the car.

Two ammunition ships exploded at Port Chicago, Calif., the night of July 18, 1944, killing an estimated 322 persons.

"And to think I met you at a peace rally!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A stainless steel mesh, filled with an acrylic cement, is being tried in cases of severe injury to the spine.

The splint markedly reduces the stay in bed and enables patients to sit in a wheelchair in a week or 10 days after the injury.

Dr. Reuben Hoppenstein, of the Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City, has created this "internal splint."

He believes that the early activity in a wheelchair, rather than resting in bed, decreases the frequency and severity of respiratory complications of such injuries.

Another interesting procedure has been developed at the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York City by Dr. Aaron Safir, an eye specialist.

The electronic device, the ophthalmometron, can examine with remarkable speed the eyes of a child and instantaneously prescribe the proper corrective lenses.

The ease and rapidity with which this can be done has great potential for the rapid and routine testing of all school children.

Far too many children are believed to be "slow learners" or inferior readers, when the basis for these problems lies in unrecognized visual disorders.

A considerate idea originated with Laurence Totman, of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Tucson, Ariz.

For a long time, Mr. Totman has been aware that methods for bathing patients were prolonged and often a burden to them.

He has found a better method. He developed a terry cloth towel bath. Over the towel is poured "a quick drying solution containing a cleansing agent, a disinfectant and a softening agent, mixed with water at 110 degrees f."

"The towel is then wrung nearly dry and unrolled over the patient, enveloping him in a sauna-like warmth. The average time of the bath is about two minutes."

This is a thoughtful contribution to the comfort of the patient.

Commission Members Back Change

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — At least two members of the Ohio Lottery Commission Thursday agreed with Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposal to give the lottery director hiring and firing authority.

But Jean Takacs objected, saying she thought it would be better if the firing of a lottery commission employee remained in the hands of the five-member commission.

Rhodes unveiled a proposed bill that would put commission employees as well as the director under Civil Service while expanding the director's authority.

"This may be the proper solution in getting a workable solution," said Lawrence C. Sherman, one of the commissioners appointed by former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Sherman said he didn't object to the director having the authority as long as employees had Civil Service protection. He said he had always thought the director should run day-to-day operations.

Another member, Mary Yates, said she agreed with that provision but thought the director should be hired by the commission rather than be appointed by the governor.

Under the current law, the governor appoints the director. Rhodes would maintain that provision but amend it to require the governor to pick one of the three highest applicants from a Civil Service test.

Rhodes said his bill, to be introduced when the legislature returns, would require that all meetings be open to the public. Sherman said all but those dealing with personnel matters are currently open.

Children Dying In Timor Outbreak

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — An Australian refugee from Timor estimates about 2,000 of the Portuguese colony's 600,000 people have died in the civil war between liberation movements fighting for control of the island territory.

Randall Riseley, an aircraft engineer who was brought to Darwin by an Australian air force transport, said the Timorese Democratic Union (UDT) holds about 80 per cent of the island, but the rival Revolutionary Front for Independent East Timor (Fretlin) is strongest in the capital, Dili.

"I've seen women and children shot," said Riseley. "I've seen old men being pushed onto fires. You've got people on one side of a street fighting people half a block away and those in the middle getting killed and having mortars dropped on them."

The Kent State Decision

Five long years after the event, the shootings at Kent State University on May 4, 1970 has passed another milestone with "not guilty" findings for all defendants.

Whether one agrees or disagrees with the verdict is not, however, the subject of this column.

More important than the verdict, the shootings or any other matter connected with the case is the disruption of legal procedure.

Witness the cries of "Sham" and "No Justice" heard in the courtroom, and the threatening of bodily harm to a juror's family if he did not vote the way some self-appointed vigilante desired. Indeed, the jurors were escorted individually to their homes by U.S. marshals because of the furor, both during and after the trial.

The United States is supposedly a nation based on laws. The jury system is to guarantee a fair hearing of charges and a decision based on those laws and questions of evidence.

It is shameful and disgusting that some persons cannot accept a verdict that does not agree with their feelings and prejudices. Such malicious conduct should, in itself, be the basis for prosecution if this nation is to maintain the integrity of its judicial process.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, August 30, the 242nd day of 1975. There are 123 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, General Douglas MacArthur arrived in Japan at the end of World War II and set up the Allied occupation headquarters.

On this date:

In 1869, Major John Wesley Powell completed the first exploration of the Colorado River, having traveled through the Grand Canyon by boat.

In 1924, the Dawes Plan for World War I reparations was signed in London.

In 1967, the U.S. Senate confirmed the appointment of Thurgood Marshall as the first black Supreme Court justice.

Ten years ago: Thousands of black children quietly entered once-white schools in the South as racial desegregation moved for the first time into many small cities and rural areas.

Five years ago: The leader who built Malaysia out of former British colonies, Tunku Abdul Rahman, announced he would retire as Malaysian premier.

One year ago: Some 150 persons were killed in a railroad derailment at Zagreb, Yugoslavia.

Today's birthdays: Civil rights leader Roy Wilkins is 74. Actress Joan Blondell is 66.

Thought for today: A man can never be a true gentleman in manner until he is a true gentleman at heart. — Charles Dickens, English novelist, 1812-1870.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, George Washington bitterly complained about shipowners who by collusion were delivering provision to the besieged British in Boston.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A stainless steel mesh, filled with an acrylic cement, is being tried in cases of severe injury to the spine.

The splint markedly reduces the stay in bed and enables patients to sit in a wheelchair in a week or 10 days after the injury.

Dr. Reuben Hoppenstein, of the Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City, has created this "internal splint."

He believes that the early activity in a wheelchair, rather than resting in bed, decreases the frequency and severity of respiratory complications of such injuries.

Another interesting procedure has been developed at the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York City by Dr. Aaron Safir, an eye specialist.

The electronic device, the ophthalmometron, can examine with remarkable speed the eyes of a child and instantaneously prescribe the proper corrective lenses.

The ease and rapidity with which this can be done has great potential for the rapid and routine testing of all school children.

Far too many children are believed to be "slow learners" or inferior readers, when the basis for these problems lies in unrecognized visual disorders.

A considerate idea originated with Laurence Totman, of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Tucson, Ariz.

For a long time, Mr. Totman has been aware that methods for bathing patients were prolonged and often a burden to them.

He has found a better method. He developed a terry cloth towel bath. Over the towel is poured "a quick drying solution containing a cleansing agent, a disinfectant and a softening agent, mixed with water at 110 degrees f."

"The towel is then wrung nearly dry and unrolled over the patient, enveloping him in a sauna-like warmth. The average time of the bath is about two minutes."

This is a thoughtful contribution to the comfort of the patient.

Commission Members Back Change

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — At least two members of the Ohio Lottery Commission Thursday agreed with Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposal to give the lottery director hiring and firing authority.

But Jean Takacs objected, saying she thought it would be better if the firing of a lottery commission employee remained in the hands of the five-member commission.

Rhodes unveiled a proposed bill that would put commission employees as well as the director under Civil Service while expanding the director's authority.

"This may be the proper solution in getting a workable solution," said Lawrence C. Sherman, one of the commissioners appointed by former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Sherman said he didn't object to the director having the authority as long as employees had Civil Service protection. He said he had always thought the director should run day-to-day operations.

Another member, Mary Yates, said she agreed with that provision but thought the director should be hired by the commission rather than be appointed by the governor.

Rhodes said his bill, to be introduced when the legislature returns, would require that all meetings be open to the public. Sherman said all but those dealing with personnel matters are currently open.

Chappaquiddick

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

CHAPPAQUIDDICK, MASS. — Sick sightseers continue to peel away souvenir bits of the tiny wooden bridge which six years ago cost a mousey secretary named Mary Jo Kopechne her life and Sen. Ted Kennedy the Presidency of the United States. Sheepish tourists drawn to this eerie islet count it the highlight of their trip when they pose for pictures on the humpbacked little span over whose inches-high railing the death car plunged, triggering endless speculation and affecting the ebbs and tides of recent political history.

Today, there are almost as many versions as to exactly what happened, and why, as there are splinters to steal. Two new books are on the shelves of the land, one an out-and-out hatchet job on the Senator, the other a transparent novel about a proper British inspector sifting every rumor, every wild guess, as if searching for gold on the sands of the lonely, deserted beach the car so nearly reached. There will be more books to come, plus more long anniversary articles and tracts. Witness the compulsive flow of wrangling words about the deaths of two of the Senator's elder brothers.

The notable exceptions in the continuing harangue and common gossip over "Chappaquiddick," which became a generic word in the American language before "Watergate," are the handful of persons actually involved: the single girls and married men at the party that preceded Miss Kopechne's death by drowning. They underwent legal grillings about as severe as motorists charged with over-parking. The mother and father of the dead girl have been extraordinarily forgiving.

As for the Senator, he has said all he intends to say about this particular albatross among the flock he seems to have been destined to carry around his neck since being born into one of the most extraordinary American families. In a quick in-and-out court appearance at nearby Edgartown, after the collapse of a palpably implausible "cover" story constructed by his friends, and perhaps by himself, he pleaded guilty of leaving the scene of an accident but was not held responsible for the death of the quiet little secretary.

Without Chappaquiddick, he almost certainly would have won the Democratic nomination in 1972. His brother Robert, who had waged a gallant and exciting campaign, had been assassinated by Sirhan Sirhan. Ted's handling of the funeral and his eulogy at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York was superb. Leonard Bernstein's strings mourned softly and Andy Williams sadly sang at the touching services. There was a candlelight burial at Arlington National Cemetery, held by the eternal flame fluttering over JFK's grave. Had Ted come forth at the 1972 Convention, he would have received the same waves of endless adulation as had immersed, silenced, and brought tears to the eyes of Bobby the 1964 night in Atlantic City when he tried to say a few words to the delegates about his dead brother John. McGovern would not have had a chance. Nixon would have been in big trouble.

Now the polls insist that, despite everything, he is No. 1 on the list of Democratic challengers to President Ford in '76. This could be a mark of the fact that seldom if ever in the history of the Democratic Party has there been a duller, more colorless, more stupid bunch of aspirants. If they were a ballclub, they couldn't beat the House of David. But Teddy has said repeatedly that he wants no part of it; he has uttered statements that make Gen. Sherman's classic rejection sound positively evasive.

Why does the Democratic Party want this star-crossed tragedian? There are many reasons, one supposes: he has the name of a winner; he is more hip than any cornball in the GOP; he made sense in civil rights and the Vietnam War; he sounds like Jack, and the young voters think Chappaquiddick was an Indian chief or is a new type of bubble-gum.

Nevertheless, it would take a miracle to deposit the nomination on Ted Kennedy, a miracle immense enough to overcome his own understandable reluctance and the qualms of the older members of the party. He would have to dispose successfully of Chappaquiddick before a huge and partisan national TV audience, and much more convincingly than Richard Nixon, who stayed afloat after his sentimental Checkers speech. Ted Kennedy is in no mood to go into the details of Chappaquiddick. Only the people who come here to browse in the ruins, his ruins, seem to be.

If there had to be a tragedy of this kind, Chappaquiddick was a perfect backdrop. It dotes on reclusiveness, moors and impenetrable fog. The only way to reach it from Martha's Vineyard, which is about an 8-iron shot away, is by a dinky little ferry that can carry only three cars, a passel of cyclists and a few pedestrians. Unless, of course, you know a guy with a skiff. The trip, which lasts a good four minutes, costs cars $1.35, but more at night.

Ted Kennedy, after his reported dives for the entrapped Miss Kopechne, his curious refusal to go immediately thereafter to a house or two nearby and call for help, and his return to the rented house where the "singles" party was still in progress, was driven to this little ferry, found it closed down for the night, swam the short distance to Edgartown, walked to his inn, then made an appearance at 2:30 in the morning in its lobby, in dry clothes, to protest the noise of another party at the inn.

Well, you should hear the rest of the many stories that abound aroundabouts. And probably will.

Car Held As Clue To Hoffa

DETROIT (AP) — A court fight has begun over the custody of a car driven on the day Jimmy Hoffa disappeared. There were reports that trained dogs detected scents of the ex-Teamsters boss in the auto.

The car's owner, Joseph Giacalone, 22, son of reputed Detroit Mafia figure Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone, filed a request in U.S. District Court Thursday seeking the return of his car. The auto was seized by the FBI on Aug. 9 and remains in federal custody.

However, a federal prosecutor said investigators have refused to release the car because it may hold a clue to the fate of the 62-year-old Hoffa, who dropped from sight on July 30.

Hoffa's foster son, Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, whom officials consider a central figure in the case, has said he drove young Giacalone's car near where Hoffa vanished at about the time Hoffa disappeared.

Robert Ozer, who heads the U.S. Attorney's Organized Crime Strike Force here, said authorities could not hold the car if it had no "evidentiary value" in the case, but he declined to say what that value might be.

Sources close to the investigation said that trained dogs used by the FBI detected Hoffa's scent in the car.

Two ammunition ships exploded at Port Chicago, Calif., the night of July 18, 1944, killing an estimated 322 persons.

Leukemia Fails To Halt Wedding

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — "Mostly we talk about the typical dreams of newlyweds, like having a family and living out our lives," revealed Steve Little, a 24-year-old Dayton, Ohio fireman who is anything but an average bridegroom.

Little met his fiancée July 4 at a mutual friend's wedding. "The sparks flew," he remembered.

A week later, Chris Broering, 22, was informed she had leukemia.

The couple was married last Friday in a tiny chapel at the Fort Hamilton-Hughes Medical Center.

Wet-eyed nurses decorated the chapel and hung bells in Chris' suite. Chris, a former Hamilton cheerleader, is spending her honeymoon bedridden, receiving daily drug injections in a bid to combat the blood disorder.

"I have nothing but faith. I don't consider losing her. She's priceless...a real princess," said Little.

"The doctors aren't painting a bad picture. We're all optimistic. Her bone marrow shows 20 per cent now, down from 50 per cent, so the doctors feel she is responding to the drugs."

The decision to marry came when two of Chris' sisters returned home from the far west to visit. Her third sister, Jean works at the medical center where Chris is hospitalized.

"Everyone has gone out of their way for us," said Little. "Montgomery County waived the normal five-day waiting period and the hospital loaned us their executive board room to hold a reception."

Little works a 24-hour shift as a fireman at the Dayton Airport, and then spends the next 48 hours at his wife's bedside.

"When they first told me she had leukemia," he recalled, "all I thought of was the movie 'Love Story'—but with a different ending."

Senior Center Members Learn Of Coming Events At Campground Picnic

Entertainment in the afternoon was provided by the Morning Star Gospel Review, a group of young singers from the Ashville area.

Members of the group are: Linda and Bob Leatherwood, Charles Morrison and Dave Rainey. They sang "How Great Thou Art" by special request, and concluded their group of 10 numbers with "They Baptized Jesse Taylor," one of the numbers they sang in competition at the Ohio State Fair.

During the business meeting, Isabella Badger and Clendell Reid won the door prize drawings. Blanche Kerns, president, conducted the meeting. She and Randolph Wolfe and Ruth Miranda were all congratulated for the awards they received on Tuesday at the Fair.

Wanda Hamilton, new homemaker on the Senior Center staff, was introduced to the group. She is available to provide some home assistance to those unable to do everything for themselves. She can be reached by calling the Center at 474-4916.

Ex-Tarzans Reunited

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When four former screen Tarzans get together to celebrate the birthday centennial of creator Edgar Rice Burroughs, you can expect a lot of yelling.

Johnny Weissmuller, now 71, threw back his head, cupped a hand to his mouth and bellowed. The "Aaaiieeoo!" that came forth was not quite up to the ape man yell he made famous in 12 Tarzan movies.

Nor were the yells attempted by Buster Crabbe, James Pierce and Jock Mahoney, who participated in a Burroughs centennial luncheon Thursday at the opening of the North American Science Fiction Convention.

Joining them were three former Janes — Eve Brent, Joyce McKenzie and Louise Lorraine. Crabbe and Weissmuller said Tarzan and Jane were not lovers — he was merely protecting her.

Weissmuller disputes claims that his Tarzan yell was a blend of various voices and sounds.

"My parents came from Austria and I used to yodel with them when I was a kid," he said. "When it came time to do the yell I just yodeled."

Soviet Grain Production Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department issued revised figures today that show Soviet grain production may be 40 million metric tons below preseason estimates.

The department said it was cutting its estimate of Russian grain production by five million metric tons, based on new information supplied by the Soviets under a 1973 agricultural information exchange agreement.

The new production estimate for all Russian grains was 175 million metric tons. The Agriculture Department had estimated Soviet production at 180 million metric tons on Aug. 11.

Russian preseason goals had been set at 215 million metric tons.

Wife's 'Peach' Wants To Stay In Tree

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a 43-year-old handsome hunk of man with a peach of a disposition. He's a TV repair man and does very well. We have two children, and I must admit he is a good father.

My complaints: He can't go to a movie because he hates to sit still for that long. He won't go to church for the same reason. He won't take me dancing because he thinks dancing is foolish. He doesn't like to go out for dinner because it's too expensive. He refuses to go to band concerts because he doesn't like that kind of music.

Camping is too rough and fishing is boring. He WILL go deer hunting but he won't take me because "men don't take their wives." He won't go for a walk with me because he might miss his favorite TV programs.

The only place he likes to go with me is to bed, and he's very good in that department.

I'm 38 and tired of staying home all the time. Any suggestion?

Woman Wins Fight Against Handicap

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP) — Thirteen months ago, Viola Rapp was a 4-foot-6 hunchback on crutches and in constant pain. Now, after three major operations, the 23-year-old woman is looking for a boy friend.

After 10 months in a plaster body cast from her neck to her thighs, she stands erect with the aid of only canes and is ready to return to her job as a secretary. Because of her erectness, she is seven inches taller.

"I never dreamed things would work out like this," she said. "I don't think you can find anybody as happy as I am."

She still has to relearn some simple tasks.

"I'm learning to go up steps now, and when I have that mastered I can return to work," she says softly. "Hopefully that will be next month."

Aside from going back to work, Viola said her plans include "getting a boy friend."

Stricken with polio in 1958, hers was only one of a few cases in Iowa in the late 1950s. She had not been vaccinated against the crippling disease.

She began suffering increased scoliosis — curvature of the spine — as the disease progressed. Eventually she was hunched over so severely that her rib cage overlapped her right hip bone by 1½ inches and she needed crutches to walk.

blessings. A man with a "peach of a disposition" who is a good father can't be all bad. Build a social life by inviting a few friends in. You don't have to go "out" to have a good time.

DEAR ABBY: My husband makes me feel like such a dummy every time I ask him a question that I've quit asking him. However, right at this moment I am sitting here puzzled and in tears. So I decided to write to you.

My basement is flooded, and I can't do my washing. My husband went on a fishing trip, and he never told me what to do if the water in the basement comes up so high it covers the sump pump.

Should I wade down there unplug it, or will I get electrocuted?

IN TEARS IN KANKAKEE

DEAR IN: First, you are no dummy for asking. When electricity is involved with water, DO NOT TOUCH ANYTHING! Phone your power company and ask them to come out and turn off the power to your house.

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago, a niece of mine was expecting a baby. Knowing that she and her husband didn't have much, I offered them a crib and highchair I had in my attic. They seemed very happy to get these items.

Now it has come to my attention that this niece SOLD the crib and highchair to a secondhand furniture dealer!

Abby, don't you think that she should have asked me if I wanted those pieces back since she had no more use for them? Also, since she got them for nothing, don't you think any money she received from selling them rightfully belongs to me?

AUNT BESSIE

DEAR AUNT: If you LENT your niece the items, she should have returned them to you. But if you gave them to her, they were hers to sell or use, at her discretion.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ALL FOULED UP IN BOZEMAN": If you were sick, you'd gladly pay a doctor for curing you, wouldn't you? So, why, when you have legal problems, do you try to get help from unqualified people who might involve you even more deeply in debt? Engage a lawyer and pay him for what he knows. It's the best investment you can make.

Ex-Tarzans Reunited

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When four former screen Tarzans get together to celebrate the birthday centennial of creator Edgar Rice Burroughs, you can expect a lot of yelling.

Johnny Weissmuller, now 71, threw back his head, cupped a hand to his mouth and bellowed. The "Aaaaieeoo!" that came forth was not quite up to the ape man yell he made famous in 12 Tarzan movies.

Nor were the yells attempted by Buster Crabbe, James Pierce and Jock Mahoney, who participated in a Burroughs centennial luncheon Thursday at the opening of the North American Science Fiction Convention.

Joining them were three former Janes — Eve Brent, Joyce McKenzie and Louise Lorraine. Crabbe and Weissmuller said Tarzan and Jane were not lovers — he was merely protecting her.

Weissmuller disputes claims that his Tarzan yell was a blend of various voices and sounds.

"My parents came from Austria and I used to yodel with them when I was a kid," he said. "When it came time to do the yell I just yodeled."

Soviet Grain Production Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department issued revised figures today that show Soviet grain production may be 40 million metric tons below pre-season estimates.

The department said it was cutting its estimate of Russian grain production by five million metric tons, based on new information supplied by the Soviets under a 1973 agricultural information exchange agreement.

The new production estimate for all Russian grains was 175 million metric tons. The Agriculture Department had estimated Soviet production at 180 million metric tons on Aug. 11.

Russian pre-season goals had been set at 215 million metric tons.

Wife's 'Peach' Wants To Stay In Tree

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a 43-year-old handsome hunk of man with a peach of a disposition. He's a TV repair man and does very well. We have two children, and I must admit he is a good father.

My complaints: He can't go to a movie because he hates to sit still for that long. He won't go to church for the same reason. He won't take me dancing because he thinks dancing is foolish. He doesn't like to go out for dinner because it's too expensive. He refuses to go to band concerts because he doesn't like that kind of music.

Camping is too rough and fishing is boring. He WILL go deer hunting but he won't take me because "men don't take their wives." He won't go for a walk with me because he might miss his favorite TV programs.

The only place he likes to go with me is to bed, and he's very good in that department.

I'm 38 and tired of staying home all the time. Any suggestion?

Woman Wins Fight Against Handicap

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP) — Thirteen months ago, Viola Rapp was a 4-foot-6 hunchback on crutches and in constant pain. Now, after three major operations, the 23-year-old woman is looking for a boy friend.

After 10 months in a plaster body cast from her neck to her thighs, she stands erect with the aid of only canes and is ready to return to her job as a secretary. Because of her erectness, she is seven inches taller.

"I never dreamed things would work out like this," she said. "I don't think you can find anybody as happy as I am."

She still has to relearn some simple tasks.

"I'm learning to go up steps now, and when I have that mastered I can return to work," she says softly. "Hopefully that will be next month."

Aside from going back to work, Viola said her plans include "getting a boy friend."

Stricken with polio in 1958, hers was only one of a few cases in Iowa in the late 1950s. She had not been vaccinated against the crippling disease.

She began suffering increased scoliosis — curvature of the spine — as the disease progressed. Eventually she was hunched over so severely that her rib cage overlapped her right hip bone by 1½ inches and she needed crutches to walk.

blessings. A man with a "peach of a disposition" who is a good father can't be all bad. Build a social life by inviting a few friends in. You don't have to go "out" to have a good time.

DEAR ABBY: My husband makes me feel like such a dummy every time I ask him a question that I've quit asking him. However, right at this moment I am sitting here puzzled and in tears. So I decided to write to you.

My basement is flooded, and I can't do my washing. My husband went on a fishing trip, and he never told me what to do if the water in the basement comes up so high it covers the sump pump.

Should I wade down there unplug it, or will I get electrocuted?

IN TEARS IN KANKAKEE

DEAR IN: First, you are no dummy for asking. When electricity is involved with water, DO NOT TOUCH ANYTHING! Phone your power company and ask them to come out and turn off the power to your house.

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago, a niece of mine was expecting a baby. Knowing that she and her husband didn't have much, I offered them a crib and highchair I had in my attic. They seemed very happy to get these items. Now it has come to my attention that this niece SOLD the crib and highchair to a secondhand furniture dealer!

Abby, don't you think that she should have asked me if I wanted those pieces back since she had no more use for them? Also, since she got them for nothing, don't you think any money she received from selling them rightfully belongs to me?

AUNT BESSIE

DEAR AUNT: If you LENT your niece the items, she should have returned them to you. But if you gave them to her, they were hers to sell or use, at her discretion.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ALL FOULED UP IN BOZEMAN": If you were sick, you'd gladly pay a doctor for curing you, wouldn't you? So, why, when you have legal problems, do you try to get help from unqualified people who might involve you even more deeply in debt? Engage a lawyer and pay him for what he knows. It's the best investment you can make.

Role Promoted For Nonlawyers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nonlawyers should have an active role in the Ohio Supreme Court's discipline system for attorneys, state Atty. Gen. William Brown said Friday.

Brown said the inclusion of laymen would strengthen the disciplinary system by making it more objective and instilling public confidence.

In a letter to Chief Justice William O'Neill, Brown said he is concerned because the proposed amendments (to Supreme Court rules) would keep investigatory powers within local and state bar association committees.

Man Ruled Able To Stand Trial

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge Robert Kraft ruled Friday that Thomas Curtis was capable of standing trial in connection with the death of Suzanne Candler, of Lima.

Curtis faces charges of aggravated murder, aggravated robbery and rape and could be sentenced to death if convicted for the May 11 killing of Miss Candler, a student who was staying with an Amberley Village family.

The prosecution has charged that Curtis, his car equipped to resemble a police vehicle, used his private police identification to stop Miss Candler while she drove on I-75 on her way home to Lima for Mother's Day. The girl's body was found on a grassy, wooded area off the highway.

Curtis goes on trial here October 20.

Jurors Talk On Verdict In KSU Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A juror in the Kent State University shootings trial says she would have preferred to judge Ohio National Guardsmen individually instead of in a group as the judge instructed the jury.

Ellen J. Gaskalla of Lorain said Friday that the verdict might have been different if the judge had not grouped the defendants into five categories. She said she voted against clearing the defendants.

She said there was some feeling among the jurors that they "had to find everyone in that group liable or no one."

Mrs. Gaskalla was one of three jurors who commented on the verdict which exonerated Gov. James A. Rhodes and 28 state or Ohio National Guard officers and enlisted men in the May 4, 1970 shootings at the school. The civil damage suit was brought by wounded students and the families of four students killed in the incident.

Albert E. Hunt, of Shaker Heights said he thought the evidence showed that the guardsmen were justified in shooting because they were in fear of their lives.

Hunt said the jurors considered the motivations of students whose demonstration resulted in the confrontation with the guardsmen and decided that the students actually created the situation.

A third juror, Richard Williams of Cleveland, said he voted against the plaintiffs mainly on the strength of viewing a short film of the demonstrations on May 4.

Hunt said, "In the tapes it showed...a few seconds before the shooting there was a charge...and you could hear them hollering out, 'lay down your guns, you're surrounded.'"

"That is what convinced me. I figured the guard panicked. According to the law, if they fear for their lives, the can fire."

PLASTIC FEET—Amputee Tammy Hilliard, 9, enjoys boating during a Florida vacation. The little New Castle, Pa., girl has braved 8 operations and 13 casts for a pair of plastic feet. Although she walks slowly, awkwardly as the scars heal, she says, "it was all worth it."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Four families moved into a house that was zoned for single occupancy only. When the neighbors complained in court, a spokesman for the group pointed out that the zoning law made an exception for "churches."

Then he said: "We think of our house as a little church, because we all belong to the same religious denomination. Furthermore, although we work at regular jobs during the day, we have several hours of religious instruction every week."

But the court decided that these factors were not enough to convert the house into a church — and that the families were in violation of the law.

It is not unusual for zoning ordinances to allow churches in an otherwise residential neighborhood. By and large, as in the above situation, a place won't qualify as a church unless there is some degree of public worship.

Consider another case. This time, the building in dispute was being used for religious retreats on weekends. During these retreats the participants would engage in study, meditation, and worship services — all under the supervision of a priest.

Despite the objections of neighbors, a court found sufficient emphasis on the religious life to make the place acceptable as a church.

Sometimes a zoning law will exempt not only churches but also any building that is "put to a religious use." Such wording broadens the possibilities.

Thus, under this kind of law, a court allowed a day care center to be operated on church-owned property. The court said that in view of the community's need for day care centers, this could reasonably be classified as "conduct with a religious purpose."

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) I use my automobile for business travel. I would like information on the standard mileage rate for automobile expenses.

(A.) When determining deductible auto expenses resulting from business use, you have the option of claiming a deduction for the entire cost of the automobile's operation including depreciation, or the standard mileage rate.

The standard mileage rate is 15 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use each year. Parking fees and tolls incurred during business use are deductible in addition to the standard mileage rate.

To use the standard mileage rate, you must: own the car; not use the car for hire (such as a taxicab); not operate a fleet of cars, using more than one car simultaneously; use only the straight line method of depreciation and not claim additional first year depreciation of the car.

If your alternate vehicles for business purposes, you may claim the standard mileage rate on each car, if all qualify. However, you must first combine the business mileage from the cars and then apply the standard mileage rate to the total business miles driven.

(Q.) When I took a new out-of-town job I had to break my apartment lease. The landlord kept my security deposit. Can I deduct the loss as a moving expense?

(A.) If the landlord kept your deposit because the apartment needed cleaning or redecorating, you cannot claim a deduction. However, you can claim a deduction if the deposit is forfeited because certain specific terms of the lease are broken as a result of the move.

Remember, in order to claim moving expense deductions the distance between your new place of

Cincy Purchases Union Terminal

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Cincinnati hopes to revive the Cincinnati Union Terminal after officially taking title Thursday to the massive facility including 15 surrounding acres.

The city purchased the terminal with a $1 million federal grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation.

The city plans to use the former railroad terminal to house its municipally owned Queen City Metro bus operation.

Meanwhile, the board of education is considering housing its school of performing arts on an upper floor and Amtrack has expressed interest in returning to the facility, according to Public Utilities Director Joseph Rochford.

(Q.) A private company awarded me a fellowship for use while I am working toward a Ph.D. Is this taxable income?

(A.) Any fellowship you receive while you are a degree candidate that is made primarily to further your education and training may be excluded from your income subject to the following conditions: you are not employed by the firm when you receive the grant; you are not being compensated for past services to the firm; you do not obligate yourself to perform present or future services. However, the amounts paid to you in pursuing your studies are not excludable if your studies or research are primarily for the firm's benefit.

Amateur Golf Tilt Hits Quarterfinals

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Four college undergraduates, a law student, an attorney, an insurance executive and a locksmith are the quarter-finalists in the 75th U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

The tournament-tough undergraduates are headed by All-Americans Andy Bean of Florida and Keith Fergus of Houston, who are in opposite brackets of the draw and are rated favorites to reach Sunday's 36-hole finals in the U.S. Golf Association's diamond anniversary event.

The eight survivors qualified automatically for next year's tourney by winning two matches Friday, and the winners in today's morning round were faced with semifinal competition in the afternoon.

Bean, the 22-year-old powerhitter from Lakeland, Fla., was to open the quarter-finals with a tee-off against Phil Kenny, 22, of Northbrook, Ill., one of two Arizona State students in the round of eight.

The other half of the upper bracket

matched Fred Ridley, a Stetson University law student from Winter Haven, Fla., against Jack Eghte, a 40-year-old insurance man from Clearwater, Fla., who is play in his ninth U.S. Amateur.

The other quarter-final matches pitted Mark Boyajian, a 26-year-old locksmith from Belleville, Ill., against Henri deLozier, 28, an attorney from Silver Spring, Md., and William Loeffler, 19, of Arizona State against Fergus.

While Boyajian said he already was satisfied in reaching the quarter-finals, as compared with a first-round defeat last year, Eghte said he was eager for bigger things.

"My desire," said Eghte, who is 12 years older than other quarter-finalist, "is to do something in a national tournament."

"I've won a lot of local tournaments, including the New York State Amateur in 1957 and the Florida State Amateur three times, but I've never really done anything on a national scope."

Andy North Leads B.C. Open Tourney

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — "It was a lot of fun on the back nine," said Andy North, who posted record-equalling 27 for nine holes on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

That score, plus his 36 going out, gave him an eight-under-par 63 Friday and the first-round lead in the $175,000 B.C. Open golf tournament.

The 25-year-old three-time All-American golfer from the University of Florida, a nonwinner in his 2½ years on the tour, forged to a three-stroke lead over Butch Baird, George Burns III and Don Iverson.

North's desire to break the nine-hole record set by Mike Souchak in the 1955 Texas Open almost proved his undoing at the par-3, 175-yard 17th hole. He needed a birdie there and another of the 18th for a 26.

"I got excited at 17 and tried too much to make a 17-foot putt," he said. "I pulled it."

But North parred the hole and, with a 50-foot putt, birdied the 18th.

En route to the 27, North followed his drive with a five-iron shot to the green on the par-5, 521-yard 12th. A 40-foot putt gave him an eagle-3.

North, among the early starters, finished before a steady rain began falling. The 1973 B.C. champion, Hubert Green, finished with a par 71 on rounds of 37 and 34. Green played his entire round in the rain, as did all of the late starters.

But defending champion Richie Karl, host pro at the 6,815-yard, par 37-34-71 En-Joe Golf Course, beat the rain and came in with a 67, as did Harold Twitty and Bob Shaw.

Five years ago, Karl fired a record-setting 62 here in a nontournament match and a host of golfers shared the competitive mark of 65. Now, North holds that record.

Registration Opens Tuesday For 1975 PP&K Competition

On Tuesday registration will begin for the 1975 Punt Pass & Kick competition in the showroom of Jim Housman Ford, Inc., 586 N. Court St.

In making the announcement, Jim Housman, president of the dealership said, "We're looking forward to a big local PP&K competition here Oct. 4. We hope all the youngsters eight through 13 in Circleville and Pickaway County will come in to register and take part."

Randy Weller will be in charge of the program for Housman Ford. He pointed out that PP&K, throughout its six levels of competition, is free of any

Southern 500 Qualifiers Set Today

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Final qualifying runs were scheduled today to fill the last 12 places of the 36-car field in Monday's Southern 500, the granddaddy of stock car racing.

Cale Yarborough, seeking his fourth victory in the Labor Day event, led the way in Friday's round, using a borrowed engine to qualify his Chevrolet at 151.436 miles per hour.

Yarborough missed Thursday's opening trials after blowing an engine. He borrowed one from car builder Hoss Ellington to earn the seventh row inside spot for Monday's $162,200 event at Darlington Raceway.

Only skeleton crews were expected to be on hand at least for early stages of the afternoon time trials. Many drivers, representatives of the National Association of Stock Car Auto Racing, members of the press corps and others associated with auto racing journeyed 100 miles to Charlotte, N.C., to attend the funeral of Bloys Britt, auto racing writer for The Associated Press.

Britt died Wednesday at a Charlotte Hospital at the age of 62. He had been ill since collapsing at this track on April 11, two days before the running of the Rebel 500.

In Friday's times trials, Yarborough outsped his nearest competitor, Cecil Gordon, by nearly five miles an hour. But still he was 2.4 miles slower than David Pearson, who earned the pole position with a record speed of 153.901—shading the standard he had set three years ago.

Southern Methodist plays its first three football games of the fall on the road and under lights.

charge and that youngsters need only have a parent or guardian accompany them to the showroom to register.

"Our competition here will have first, second and third place trophies for contestants in each of the six age groups — 18 trophies in all," Weller said. "Increasing each entrant's chances of winning is the fact that youngsters compete only against others in their own age group."

There is no body contact in PP&K. It's punting, passing and place-kicking for distance and points. First place winners in each age group in competition will go on to the zone competition and from there top winners go on up the ladder through district, area, division and national finals.

This year the national finals will be held at Super Bowl X in Miami on Jan. 18, 1976. "Naturally we hope some of our PP&K winners will make it all the way to the finals," Weller said.

He further explained that each entrant, upon registering, receives a free PP&K Tips Book. In the 1975 edition, there are competition tips by NFL stars Ray Guy, Ken Anderson and Chester Marcol. The tips book also includes complete PP&K rules and helpful conditioning exercises for contestants.

PP&K registrations will close at Jim Housman Ford Inc. on Oct. 3.

This is the 15th anniversary year for PP&K. From its inception the youth activity has been sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America in cooperation with the National Football League. In that time more than 11.5 million youngsters have taken part in PP&K, making it one of the largest youth activities.

LE Fall Preview Scheduled Thursday

The Logan Elm Fall Preview will be held 8 p.m. Thursday at the school football field.

The preview will feature the Braves football team, coaching staff, marching band and directors and cheerleaders.

There will also be a pep rally and bonfire. Sponsored by the LE boosters, there will be an admission charge.

Ashville Pacer Wins At Scioto Downs

Tag On, owned by George E. Stump of Ashville, won the fifth race at Scioto Downs Friday night.

The bay gelding, driven by Harry Schilling, paced the mile in 2:08 and paid $6.40, $3.80 and $3.40.

This Could Be The Year Of The Mustangs

THE WESTFALL MUSTANGS

Thirty-five gridders, including 11 lettermen, have donned the equipment at Westfall High School and are hard at work getting ready for Sept. 5 when the Mustangs will host Berne Union in the season opener.

"We feel we have the finest group of young men that I have ever had the chance to work with at Westfall," head coach John Glanton stated. "These kids have a winning attitude and a sense of pride."

Three All-Scioto Valley Conference are back, including tailback John Long who was the back of the year in the conference in 1974. He is the only sophomore to ever win this honor. Long is a junior, 5-foot-10, 177-pound, 2-year letterman.

The other two returning SVC players are: Rick Stillings, quarterback and all-league safety, 5-foot-8, 140-pound, 1-year letterman; Roger Johnson, all-league defensive end and will perform at center for the Mustangs on offense, 5-foot-7, 150-pound, senior, 2-year letterman.

Other Mustang lettermen back for another season are: Bill Evans, 6-foot-1, 173-pound, senior, two letters; Randy Hildenbrand, 6-foot-2, 200-pound, senior, 3-year-letterman; Tim Lett, 5-foot-8, 155-pound, senior, 2-year-letterman; John Roberts, 6-foot, 170-pound, junior, 1-year-letterman; Eric Schleich, 5-foot-11, 170-pound, junior, 1-year letterman; Carl Strittmatter, 5-foot-10, 166-pound, junior, 1-year-letterman; Mike Weidinger, 6-foot-3, 205-pound, junior, 1-year-letterman; Mike Hurley, 6-foot-1, 190-pound, sophomore, 1-year-letterman.

Other seniors on the squad are: John Graffis, 6-foot, 155-pound; Eddie Myers, 5-foot-10, 155-pound.

Greg Damron is a 5-foot-7, 150-pound junior making a bid for a berth.

Sophomores on the squad are: Randy Adams, 5-foot-6, 145-pound; Earl Curry, 6-foot-1, 280-pound; Dennis Finch, 5-foot-5, 141-pounds; Keith Kern, 5-foot-9, 137-pound; Darron

Metzger, 5-foot-7, 125-foot; Mike Moore, 6-foot, 142-pound; Jeff Mowery, 5-foot-6½, 152-pound; Dave Rowland, 5-foot-11, 185-pound; Tony Simon, 5-foot-10, 155-pound; Herb Picklesimer, 6-foot-2, 177-pound.

Freshmen members are: H. L. Gibson, 5-foot-7, 150-pound; Brett Hastings, 5-foot-7, 130-pound; Mark Henson, 5-foot-5, 130-pound; George Kern, 5-foot-9, 142-pound; Gary Phelps, 5-foot-7, 135-pound; Dane Russell, 5-foot-6, 120-pound; Danny Schleich, 5-foot-8, 130-pound; Terry Williams, 5-foot-9, 150-pound; Eric Miller, 5-foot-5, 137-pound.

Rick Sims will handle the duties of the backfield coach with Bill Eystone working as line coach.

The Mustangs will operate from a multiple T offense. They are working on building a consistent offense with an inside and outside running game coupled with play action and drop back passing.

On defense the Mustangs will angle their front five and use zone pass coverage with a monster.

"We feel that the strong point of our game is the overall improvement in technique," Glanton commented, "and our weak spot will be lack of depth."

The Westfall staff feels that Adena and Picketon will be the teams to beat in the SVC.

Seven home games will feature the following Mustang schedule:

Sept. 5	Berne Union
Sept. 12	Madison Plains
Sept. 20	At Peebles (1 p.m.)
Sept. 26	Adena
Oct. 3	Miller
Oct. 10	At Zane Trace
Oct. 17	Huntington
Oct. 24	Picketon
Oct. 31	At Paint Valley
Nov. 7	Southeastern

Ruffian was the fourth filly to win the Triple Crown of her sex. The others were Dark Mirage, Shuvee and Chris Evert.

Amateur Golf Tilt Hits Quarterfinals

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Four college undergraduates, a law student, an attorney, an insurance executive and a locksmith are the quarter-finalists in the 75th U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

The tournament-tough undergraduates are headed by All-Americans Andy Bean of Florida and Keith Fergus of Houston, who are in opposite brackets of the draw and are rated favorites to reach Sunday's 36-hole finals in the U.S. Golf Association's diamond anniversary event.

The eight survivors qualified automatically for next year's tourney by winning two matches Friday, and the winners in today's morning round were faced with semifinal competition in the afternoon.

Bean, the 22-year-old powerhitter from Lakeland, Fla., was to open the quarter-finals with a tee-off against Phil Kenny, 22, of Northbrook, Ill., one of two Arizona State students in the round of eight.

The other half of the upper bracket

matched Fred Ridley, a Stetson University law student from Winter Haven, Fla., against Jack Eghte, a 40-year-old insurance man from Clearwater, Fla., who is play in his ninth U.S. Amateur.

The other quarter-final matches pitted Mark Boyajian, a 26-year-old locksmith from Belleville, Ill., against Henri deLozier, 28, an attorney from Silver Spring, Md., and William Loeffler, 19, of Arizona State against Fergus.

While Boyajian said he already was satisfied in reaching the quarter-finals, as compared with a first-round defeat last year, Eghte said he was eager for bigger things.

"My desire," said Eghte, who is 12 years older than other quarter-finalist, "is to do something in a national tournament."

"I've won a lot of local tournaments, including the New York State Amateur in 1957 and the Florida State Amateur three times, but I've never really done anything on a national scope."

Andy North Leads B.C. Open Tourney

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — "It was a lot of fun on the back nine," said Andy North, who posted record-equaling 27 for nine holes on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

That score, plus his 36 going out, gave him an eight-under-par 63 Friday and the first-round lead in the $175,000 B.C. Open golf tournament.

The 25-year-old three-time All-American golfer from the University of Florida, a nonwinner in his 2½ years on the tour, forged to a three-stroke lead over Butch Baird, George Burns III and Don Iverson.

North's desire to break the nine-hole record set by Mike Souchak in the 1955 Texas Open almost proved his undoing at the par-3, 175-yard 17th hole. He needed a birdie there and another of the 18th for a 26.

"I got excited at 17 and tried too much to make a 17-foot putt," he said. "I pulled it."

But North parred the hole and, with a 50-foot putt, birdied the 18th.

En route to the 27, North followed his drive with a five-iron shot to the green on the par-5, 521-yard 12th. A 40-foot putt gave him an eagle-3.

North, among the early starters, finished before a steady rain began falling. The 1973 B.C. champion, Hubert Green, finished with a par 71 on rounds of 37 and 34. Green played his entire round in the rain, as did all of the late starters.

But defending champion Richie Karl, host pro at the 6,815-yard, par 37-41 En-Joie Golf Course, beat the rain and came in with a 67, as did Harold Twitty and Bob Shaw.

Five years ago, Karl fired a record-setting 62 here in a nontournament match and a host of golfers shared the competitive mark of 65. Now, North holds that record.

Registration Opens Tuesday For 1975 PP&K Competition

On Tuesday registration will begin for the 1975 Punt Pass & Kick competition in the showroom of Jim Houseman Ford, Inc., 586 N. Court St.

In making the announcement, Jim Houseman, president of the dealership said, "We're looking forward to a big local PP&K competition here Oct. 4. We hope all the youngsters eight through 13 in Circleville and Pickaway County will come in to register and take part."

Randy Weller will be in charge of the program for Houseman Ford. He pointed out that PP&K, throughout its six levels of competition, is free of any

Southern 500 Qualifiers Set Today

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Final qualifying runs were scheduled today to fill the last 12 places of the 36-car field in Monday's Southern 500, the granddaddy of stock car racing.

Cale Yarborough, seeking his fourth victory in the Labor Day event, led the way in Friday's round, using a borrowed engine to qualify his Chevrolet at 151.436 miles per hour.

Yarborough missed Thursday's opening trials after blowing an engine. He borrowed one from car builder Hoss Ellington to earn the seventh row inside spot for Monday's $162,200 event at Darlington Raceway.

Only skeleton crews were expected to be on hand at least for early stages of the afternoon time trials. Many drivers, representatives of the National Association of Stock Car Auto Racing, members of the press corps and others associated with auto racing journeyed 100 miles to Charlotte, N.C., to attend the funeral of Bloys Britt, auto racing writer for The Associated Press.

Britt died Wednesday at a Charlotte Hospital at the age of 62. He had been ill since collapsing at this track on April 11, two days before the running of the Rebel 500.

In Friday's times trials, Yarborough outsped his nearest competitor, Cecil Gordon, by nearly five miles an hour. But still he was 2.4 miles slower than David Pearson, who earned the pole position with a record speed of 153.901—shading the standard he had set three years ago.

Southern Methodist plays its first three football games of the fall on the road and under lights.

charge and that youngsters need only have a parent or guardian accompany them to the showroom to register.

"Our competition here will have first, second and third place trophies for contestants in each of the six age groups — 18 trophies in all," Weller said. "Increasing each entrant's chances of winning is the fact that youngsters compete only against others in their own age group."

There is no body contact in PP&K. It's punting, passing and place-kicking for distance and points. First place winners in each age group in competition will go on to the zone competition and from there top winners go on up the ladder through district, area, division and national finals.

This year the national finals will be held at Super Bowl X in Miami on Jan. 18, 1976. "Naturally we hope some of our PP&K winners will make it all the way to the finals," Weller said.

He further explained that each entrant, upon registering, receives a free PP&K Tips Book. In the 1975 edition, there are competition tips by NFL stars Ray Guy, Ken Anderson and Chester Marcol. The tips book also includes complete PP&K rules and helpful conditioning exercises for contestants.

PP&K registrations will close at Jim Houseman Ford Inc. on Oct. 3.

This is the 15th anniversary year for PP&K. From its inception the youth activity has been sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America in cooperation with the National Football League. In that time more than 11.5 million youngsters have taken part in PP&K, making it one of the largest youth activities.

This Could Be The Year Of The Mustangs

THE WESTFALL MUSTANGS

Thirty-five gridders, including 11 lettermen, have donned the equipment at Westfall High School and are hard at work getting ready for Sept. 5 when the Mustangs will host Berne Union in the season opener.

"We feel we have the finest group of young men that I have ever had the chance to work with at Westfall," head coach John Glanton stated. "These kids have a winning attitude and a sense of pride."

Three All-Scioto Valley Conference are back, including tailback John Long who was the back of the year in the conference in 1974. He is the only sophomore to ever win this honor. Long is a junior, 5-foot-10, 177-pound, 2-year letterman.

The other two returning SVC players are: Rick Stillings, quarterback and all-league safety, 5-foot-8, 140-pound, 1-year letterman; Roger Johnson, all-league defensive end and will perform at center for the Mustangs on offense, 5-foot-7, 150-pound, senior, 2-year letterman.

Other Mustang lettermen back for another season are: Bill Evans, 6-foot-1, 173-pound, senior, two letters; Randy Hildenbrand, 6-foot-2, 200-pound, senior, 3-year-letterman; Tim Lett, 5-foot-8, 155-pound, senior, 2-year-letterman; John Roberts, 6-foot, 170-pound, junior, 1-year-letterman; Eric Schleich, 5-foot-11, 170-pound, junior, 1-year letterman; Carl Strittmatter, 5-foot-10, 166-pound, junior, 1-year-letterman; Mike Weidinger, 6-foot-3, 205-pound, junior, 1-year-letterman; Mike Hurley, 6-foot-1, 190-pound, sophomore, 1-year-letterman.

Other seniors on the squad are: John Graffis, 6-foot, 155-pound; Eddie Myers, 5-foot-10, 155-pound.

Greg Damron is a 5-foot-7, 150-pound junior making a bid for a berth.

Sophomores on the squad are: Randy Adams, 5-foot-6, 145-pound; Earl Curry, 6-foot-1, 280-pound; Dennis Finch, 5-foot-5, 141-pounds; Keith Kern, 5-foot-9, 137-pound; Darron

Metzger, 5-foot-7, 125-foot; Mike Moore, 6-foot, 142-pound; Jeff Mowery, 5-foot-6½, 152-pound; Dave Rowland, 5-foot-11, 185-pound; Tony Simon, 5-foot-10, 155-pound; Herb Picklesimer, 6-foot-2, 177-pound.

Freshmen members are: H. L. Gibson, 5-foot-7, 150-pound; Brett Hastings, 5-foot-7, 130-pound; Mark Henson, 5-foot-5, 130-pound; George Kern, 5-foot-9, 142-pound; Gary Phelps, 5-foot-7, 135-pound; Dane Russell, 5-foot-6, 120-pound; Danny Schleich, 5-foot-8, 130-pound; Terry Williams, 5-foot-9, 150-pound; Eric Miller, 5-foot-5, 137-pound.

Rick Sims will handle the duties of the backfield coach with Bill Eyestone working as line coach.

The Mustangs will operate from a multiple T offense. They are working on building a consistent offense with an inside and outside running game coupled with play action and drop back passing.

On defense the Mustangs will angle

their front five and use zone pass coverage with a monster.

"We feel that the strong point of our game is the overall improvement in technique," Glanton commented, "and our weak spot will be lack of depth."

The Westfall staff feels that Adena and Piketon will be the teams to beat in the SVC.

Seven home games will feature the following Mustang schedule:

Sept. 5	Berne Union
Sept. 12	Madison Plains
Sept. 20	At Peebles (1 p.m.)
Sept. 26	Adena
Oct. 3	Miller
Oct. 10	At Zane Trace
Oct. 17	Huntington
Oct. 24	Piketon
Oct. 31	At Paint Valley
Nov. 7	Southeastern

Ruffian was the fourth filly to win the Triple Crown of her sex. The others were Dark Mirage, Shuvee and Chris Evert.

Reds Hammer Cards, 6-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Lynn McGlothen wasn't worried. Cesar Geronimo was.

"The pitch was in a good spot," said McGlothen, "but it happened to be in an area where he hits the ball best."

Geronimo snapped a personal slump by drilling the pitch off the St. Louis Cardinals' righthander into the right field seats for a three run homer, lifting the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-2 victory Thursday night.

"He had struck me out five straight times," said the Cincinnati centerfielder, who helped comeback pitcher Gary Nolan record his 12th victory of the year.

"I've been having a hard time at the plate," said Geronimo, who hit a career-high .281 last year but has slipped in recent weeks to .260.

It was Cincinnati's fifth straight victory and put the Reds' sensational home record at 54-13—seven victories short of tying the National League mark set by the 1962 San Francisco Giants.

Cincinnati's magic number dropped to 10 as a result of the New York Mets victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I was glad to get the RBIs," said Geronimo, who erased a 1-1 deadlock. "A win doesn't mean that much right now, except to our fans."

Nolan, now 12-8 after a two-year layoff, flirted with disaster most of his six and two third innings. It took three double plays in the first three innings to get him off the hook.

"He's getting stronger," said catcher Johnny Bench. "But he's not locating his curveball. He's not overpowering anyone so he has to rely on his offspeed stuff."

McGlothen, 13-10, reviewed the loss as a case of strategy that went awry.

"Against Cincinnati you try to keep the first two guys off base. Tony Perez has been my biggest nemesis on this club. He's just a good competitor and hits where I pitch him," said McGlothen.

Perez drove in the Reds first run with a single for his 92nd RBI of the year, two shy of Frank Robinson's all-time club mark.

Perez also had a hand in the three-run fourth inning outburst off McGlothen. Perez led off with a single and George Foster added a single, setting up Geronimo's sixth homer of the year.

The loss left the Cards four games back of NL East leader Pittsburgh, but the drop didn't dishearten McGlothen.

"We'll catch 'em," he promised.

"We probably have the best schedule of the contenders. I feel we're going to win it."

McGlothen was Cincinnati's latest righthanded victim. The Reds hold an amazing 67-25 mastery over righthanders, a dominance that has propelled Cincinnati four games ahead of its 1970 pace when it set a club record of 102 victories.

Will McEnaney relieved Nolan in the seventh and was credited with his 13th save of the year.

The victory was Nolan's 32nd in 45 decisions at Riverfront Stadium.

When the New York Mets jumped on Don Sutton for six runs in the first inning, Jon Matlack figured he was in trouble.

"When we get a big lead like that, it's usually a bad sign," the Mets' ace left-hander said. "Too many runs too early generally means I won't make it through the game. It's been a common thing for our pitching staff this year."

But Matlack had nothing to worry about Friday night in Los Angeles. Buoyed by that big cushion—compliments of his own two-run single and Dave Kingman's three-run homer—Matlack proceeded to cruise to a six-hitter and the Mets beat the Dodgers 6-1.

"I was looking for a real tough game," Matlack said. "When we got to Sutton early, it really surprised me."

In the rest of the National League, Philadelphia beat San Francisco 3-1, Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 6-2, Montreal shut out San Diego 4-0 and Chicago ripped Atlanta 8-3. Houston's game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Phillies 3, Giants 1

Dave Cash's tie-breaking double in a two-run eighth inning gave the Phils their victory over the Giants and Ed Halicki, whose previous start had resulted in a no-hitter against the Mets.

Halicki, who allowed just five hits and struck out 12 batters in 72-3 innings, walked Johnny Oates before Cash hit his gamewinner off the right-field wall and Larry Bowa sent Cash in with a single to right.

Expos 4, Padres 0

San Juan clipped Worthington, Ohio, 5-2, and Fullerton dropped Cheverly, Md., 10-6 in Friday games as both teams chalked up their second tourney victories.

Red Sox Pound Oakland, 6-1

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

The playoffs may be another cup of tea, as Reggie Jackson says, but in the meantime the Red Sox are having a party whenever they meet the Oakland A's in Boston.

The Sox made it four in a row over the A's in friendly Fenway Park with a 6-1 victory Friday night as Cecil Cooper delivered a single, two doubles and his 12th homer and Rick Wise scattered eight hits for his 17th triumph, equaling his career high.

That boosted their lead in the American League's East Division to 7½ games over the Baltimore Orioles, who bowed to the Chicago White Sox 4-2. The A's, however, maintained their 7½-game bulge over Kansas City in the AL West when the New York Yankees edged the Royals 6-5 in 10 innings.

Elsewhere, the Cleveland Indians downed the Minnesota Twins 9-6, the California Angels trounced the Detroit Tigers 8-1 and the Milwaukee Brewers routed the Texas Rangers 13-1.

With two weekend games remaining,

the Red Sox lead the A's 6-4 in the season series and 4-0 in Boston, where the playoffs would open if the Red Sox win their division.

White Sox 4, Orioles 2

Switch-hitting Ken Henderson, who had hit only six previous home runs this season, homered from each side of the plate and Deron Johnson and Bob Coluccio also connected for Chicago as Jim Kaat notched his 19th victory with seventh-inning relief from Rich Gossage.

Yankees 6, Royals 5

Thurman Munson raced home from third base on a wide throw by Kansas City second baseman Cookie Rojas in the 10th inning. Munson singled with one out and went to third on a single by Graig Nettles. After an intentional walk loaded the bases, pinch-hitter Walt Williams grounded to Rojas but his throw home was up the third base line, where catcher Bob Stinson caught it as Munson slid past him with the winning run.

Indians 9, Twins 6

Rookie Rick Manning's grand-slam homer in the eighth inning enabled Cleveland to beat the Twins. The Indians scored twice in the first inning on two walks and RBI singles by Rico Carty and Oscar Gamble. They added two runs in the third on hits by Carty, Gamble and Alan Ashby and made it 5-2 in the fourth when Duane Kuiper scored on the front end of a double steal. Manning's grand slam increased Cleveland's lead to 9-4.

Angels 8, Tigers 1

Frank Tanana fired a sevenhitter and fanned nine to run his major league leading strikeout total to 206. John Balaz doubled home California's first two runs and Dave Collins homered for the last two.

Brewers 13, Rangers 1

Jim Colborn pitched a fivehitter and fanned nine to run his major league leading strikeout total to 206. John Balaz doubled home California's first two runs and Dave Collins homered for the last two.

Rochester Defeats Toledo Mud Hens 8-6

By The Associated Press

Mike Reinbach cracked a 10th inning homer to give Rochester an 8-6 victory over Toledo Friday and tighten the Red Wings' first place grip in International League baseball standings.

Reinbach's homer was good for two runs. Toledo's best effort came with four runs in the fifth inning. The win was first in the final match of the threegame series.

Second place Tidewater lost 4-1 to the Richmond Braves.

5 Trapped In Cave-In

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Firemen remained trapped in a sewer cave-in in this internationally known resort city today as rescue teams attempted to stop flooding of the 700-foot long tunnel that had been inundated with water since about 9:30 p.m. Friday.

"Things look grim," police here said when asked for the chances of survival of the trapped employees of the D'Mambro and Majestic Construction Co., of Detroit, Mich., who were performing excavation work on the city sewer project when the accident occurred.

Names of those trapped were not released.

Authorities said an adjoining tunnel broke loose and water entirely filled the tunnel, trapping the five men inside.

A broken sewer pipe was discovered early today and sandbagging efforts were being made in an attempt to drain water from the cave-in and proceed with rescue efforts, police said.

The construction company, police and fire officials were engaged in the rescue operation.

California Sun Rips Philadelphia Bell

ANAHEIM (AP) — Communication between Dave Williams and his quarterback has helped the Southern California Sun wide receiver set a World Football League record of four touchdown catches in one game.

"He's a very intelligent man," said Sun quarterback Pat Haden of Williams after the Sun walloped the Philadelphia Bell, 58-39, Friday night to maintain its lead in the Western Division.

Reds Hammer Cards, 6-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Lynn McGlothen wasn't worried. Cesar Geronimo was.

"The pitch was in a good spot," said McGlothen, "but it happened to be in an area where he hits the ball best."

Geronimo snapped a personal slump by drilling the pitch off the St. Louis Cardinals' righthander into the right field seats for a three-run homer, lifting the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-2 victory Thursday night.

"He had struck me out five straight times," said the Cincinnati centerfielder, who helped comeback pitcher Gary Nolan record his 12th victory of the year.

"I've been having a hard time at the plate," said Geronimo, who hit a career-high .281 last year but has slipped in recent weeks to .260.

It was Cincinnati's fifth straight victory and put the Reds' sensational home record at 54-13—seven victories short of tying the National League mark set by the 1962 San Francisco Giants.

Cincinnati's magic number dropped to 10 as a result of the New York Mets victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I was glad to get the RBIs," said Geronimo, who erased a 1-1 deadlock. "A win doesn't mean that much right now, except to our fans."

Nolan, now 12-8 after a two-year layoff, flirted with disaster most of his six and two third innings. It took three double plays in the first three innings to get him off the hook.

"He's getting stronger," said catcher Johnny Bench. "But he's not locating his curveball. He's not overpowering anymore so he has to rely on his offspeed stuff."

McGlothen, 13-10, reviewed the loss as a case of strategy that went awry.

"Against Cincinnati you try to keep the first two guys off base. Tony Perez has been my biggest nemesis on this club. He's just a good competitor and hits where I pitch him," said McGlothen.

Perez drove in the Reds first run with a single for his 92nd RBI of the year, two shy of Frank Robinson's all-time club mark.

Perez also had a hand in the three-run fourth inning outburst off McGlothen. Perez led off with a single and George Foster added a single, setting up Geronimo's sixth homer of the year.

The loss left the Cards four games back of NL East leader Pittsburgh, but the drop didn't dishearten McGlothen.

"We'll catch 'em," he promised. "We probably have the best schedule of the contenders. I feel we're going to win it."

McGlothen was Cincinnati's latest righthanded victim. The Reds hold an amazing 67-25 mastery over righthanders, a dominance that has propelled Cincinnati four games ahead of its 1970 pace when it set a club record of 102 victories.

Will McEnaney relieved Nolan in the seventh and was credited with his 13th save of the year.

The victory was Nolan's 32nd in 45 decisions at Riverfront Stadium.

When the New York Mets jumped on Don Sutton for six runs in the first inning, Jon Matlack figured he was in trouble.

"When we get a big lead like that, it's usually a bad sign," the Mets' ace left-hander said. "Too many runs too early generally means I won't make it through the game. It's been a common thing for our pitching staff this year."

But Matlack had nothing to worry about Friday night in Los Angeles. Buoyed by that big cushion—compliments of his own two-run single and Dave Kingman's three-run homer—Matlack proceeded to cruise to a six-hitter and the Mets beat the Dodgers 6-1.

"I was looking for a real tough game," Matlack said. "When we got to Sutton early, it really surprised me."

In the rest of the National League, Philadelphia beat San Francisco 3-1, Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 6-2, Montreal shut out San Diego 4-0 and Chicago ripped Atlanta 8-3. Houston's game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Phillies 3, Giants 1

Dave Cash's tie-breaking double in a two-run eighth inning gave the Phils their victory over the Giants and Ed Halicki, whose previous start had resulted in a no-hitter against the Mets.

Halicki, who allowed just five hits and struck out 12 batters in 72-3 innings, walked Johnny Oates before Cash hit his gamewinner off the right-field wall and Larry Bowa sent Cash in with a single to right.

Expos 4, Padres 0

Don Carrithers' four-hitter and Mike Jorgensen's homer that started a three-run fourth inning enabled Montreal to saddle the Padres with their fifth straight loss.

Cubs 8, Braves 3

The Cubs halted a five-game losing streak, beating Atlanta on Andy Thornton's two-run homer and Jose Cardenal's solo shot.

Rochester Defeats Toledo Mud Hens 8-6

By The Associated Press

Mike Reinbach cracked a 10th inning homer to give Rochester an 8-6 victory over Toledo Friday and tighten the Red Wings' first place grip in International League baseball standings.

Reinbach's homer was good for two runs. Toledo's best effort came with four runs in the fifth inning. The win was first in the final match of the threegame series.

Second place Tidewater lost 4-1 to the Richmond Braves.

Red Sox Pound Oakland, 6-1

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

The playoffs may be another cup of tea, as Reggie Jackson says, but in the meantime the Red Sox are having a party whenever they meet the Oakland A's in Boston.

The Sox made it four in a row over the A's in friendly Fenway Park with a 6-1 victory Friday night as Cecil Cooper delivered a single, two doubles and his 12th homer and Rick Wise scattered eight hits for his 17th triumph, equaling his career high.

That boosted their lead in the American League's East Division to 7½ games over the Baltimore Orioles, who bowed to the Chicago White Sox 4-2. The A's, however, maintained their 7½-game bulge over Kansas City in the AL West when the New York Yankees edged the Royals 6-5 in 10 innings.

Elsewhere, the Cleveland Indians downed the Minnesota Twins 9-6, the California Angels trounced the Detroit Tigers 8-1 and the Milwaukee Brewers routed the Texas Rangers 13-1.

With two weekend games remaining,

the Red Sox lead the A's 6-4 in the season series and 4-0 in Boston, where the playoffs would open if the Red Sox win their division.

White Sox 4, Orioles 2

Switch-hitting Ken Henderson, who had hit only six previous home runs this season, homered from each side of the plate and Deron Johnson and Bob Coluccio also connected for Chicago as Jim Kaat notched his 19th victory with seventh-inning relief from Rich Gossage.

Yankees 6, Royals 5

Thurman Munson raced home from third base on a wide throw by Kansas City second baseman Cookie Rojas in the 10th inning. Munson singled with one out and went to third on a single by Graig Nettles. After an intentional walk loaded the bases, pinch-hitter Walt Williams grounded to Rojas but his throw home was up the third base line, where catcher Bob Stinson caught it as Munson slid past him with the winning run.

Indians 9, Twins 6

Rookie Rick Manning's grand-slam homer in the eighth inning enabled Cleveland to beat the Twins. The Indians scored twice in the first inning on two walks and RBI singles by Rico Carty and Oscar Gamble. They added two runs in the third on hits by Carty, Gamble and Alan Ashby and made it 5-2 in the fourth when Duane Kuiper scored on the front end of a double steal. Manning's grand slam increased Cleveland's lead to 9-4.

Angels 8, Tigers 1

Frank Tanana fired a sevenhitter and fanned nine to run his major league leading strikeout total to 206. John Balaz doubled home California's first two runs and Dave Collins homered for the last two.

Brewers 13, Rangers 1

Jim Colborn pitched a fivehitter and Bill Sharp tripled home two runs in a three-run fourth inning. The Brewers put it away with four runs on only two hits in the seventh, then got six more in the ninth, two on Bob Sheldon's bases-loaded single.

5 Trapped In Cave-In

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Firemen remained trapped in a sewer cave-in in this internationally known resort city today as rescue teams attempted to stop flooding of the 700-foot long tunnel that had been inundated with water since about 9:30 p.m. Friday.

"Things look grim," police here said when asked for the chances of survival of the trapped employees of the D'Mambro and Majestic Construction Co., of Detroit, Mich., who were performing excavation work on the city sewer project when the accident occurred.

Names of those trapped were not released.

Authorities said an adjoining tunnel broke loose and water entirely filled the tunnel, trapping the five men inside.

A broken sewer pipe was discovered early today and sandbagging efforts were being made in an attempt to drain water from the cave-in and proceed with rescue efforts, police said.

The construction company, police and fire officials were engaged in the rescue operation.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Thomas C. Colt Jr., director of the Dayton Art Institute, retires at the end of the month.

Colt was appointed in 1966 as a charter member of the Ohio Arts Council and the council honored him in 1973 by an award presented for excellence in fine arts administration.

Unbeatens Collide In Legion Tourney

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — The only two remaining unbeaten teams in the American Legion World Series, defending champion San Juan, P.R., and Fullerton, Calif., face each other here tonight in the double elimination tournament.

San Juan clipped Worthington, Ohio, 5-2, and Fullerton dropped Cheverly, Md., 10-6 in Friday games as both teams chalked up their second tourney victories.

In other games Friday, Yakima, Wash., edged West Quincey, Mass., 4-3, and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, squeaked by Jackson, Miss., 11-10 in a 10 inning contest. The losses eliminated West Quincey and Jackson from the tournament, which runs through Labor Day.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): In all matters and projects requiring training and practice, if you are consistent and careful, you will gain new advantages. Just one admonition: curb overaggressiveness.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Don't try to "get by" on your personality now and DO avoid outmoded methods, deviation from essentials. Be objective; yield where you should.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your nature normally is to "keep up with the times." It has built-in inventiveness, excellent perception. Don't let a "handful of thumbs" bungle your job now. Think carefully.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): When least expected, you may be asked to put forth extra effort, do more than usual, take on someone else's task for good reason. In this you can excel notably.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): As with the Cancerian, you may have to take on some extra responsibilities today, but the rewards will be worth it — if you handle them well, and amiably.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A day which stresses a need for efficiency. Take a cue from competitors what NOT to do and what TO DO. You can be indifferent or enthusiastic. It's up to you!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Through good methods, integrity and following successful past procedures, you can put this day's efforts in the top echelon for rewards, advancement.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): If adaptability, imagination and energies are wisely directed, you and others whom you influence will draw readily on success patterns. This is no day for dawdling!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Certain obstacles in your path will call for either more concentrated effort on your part or a complete revision of plan if they are to be overcome.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Curb emotions and a tendency to go to extremes. Tighten reins on spending, but don't scrimp unwisely and lose out in the long run.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your Uranus excellently positioned. Stretch your talents and abilities to cover some of the sparse areas in your field of attainment.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Not all things will come easily now and, as last week, you will have some important decisions to make. Make them carefully, however, and you will be in line for many benefits.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a winning personality, are purposeful in your aims, extremely trustworthy and meticulous in handling details; may, however, be too unyielding at times. You have fine executive ability and the gift of leadership; would make an excellent promoter or organizer. However, the Virgoan of this date is primarily interested in science, technology and education. In the latter connection, you would make an outstanding teacher if not too impatient or exacting with those under your supervision. In the creative field, music and literature would be the best outlets for your talents. Birthdate of: Theophile Gautier, French novelist; Wm. Saroyan, author, playwright; Arthur Godfrey, radio and TV entertainer.

Bonefish Picked In Hambletonian

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP) — A big bay colt named Bonefish was the standardbred to beat today in the 50th Hambletonian Stakes, richest and most prestigious race on the continent for 3-year-old trotters.

The fortunes of 10 other colts and two fillies vying for shares of the record $232,190 purse seemed harnessed to the favorite's handling of his ninth position, first heat start and his recovery from a poor performance a week ago at the Horsemen's Futurity in Indianapolis.

Also riding on him were the hopes of many of the 16,000 fans expected to take advantage of the first pari-mutuel betting allowed at the Hambletonian since it moved to the DuQuoin State Fair in 1957.

Stanley Dancer, Bonefish's driver-trainer and part owner, seemed confidence personified before the classic contest. Dancer assured all questioners his horse, rated 2-1 in the morning line, had the speed to take the start in stride and proved his soundness during midweek workouts.

Winner of the 1968 and 1972 Hambletonians, Dancer had good reason for optimism: Bonefish turned this year's fastest mile on harness racing's Grand Circuit Aug. 17, a 1:58.1-5, and was ranked No. 1 even before the season began.

Cleveland Raps Minnesota, 9-6

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rick Manning hit a grand slam home run and got fined, and Don Hood says he'll pay it. Manning's hitting and Hood's pitching helped the Cleveland Indians knock off the Minnesota Twins 9-6 Friday night in the first of a four-game series.

Manning, a 20-year-old rookie outfielder, slammed a Vic Albury fastball over the right-centerfield fence with none out in the eighth inning, increasing Cleveland's lead at that point to 9-4.

It was his first major league grand slam and only his third homer of the season. "I thought it was out when I hit it," he said. "I don't usually hit the ball that high. I was looking for another pitch away, but he came right down the middle, waist high." As for the fine, it amounted to the kingly sum of $1 and came from the Indians' Kangaroo Kourt, which convenes in the clubhouse after each Cleveland victory. "The last time I hit a homer, they fined me for going around the bases too fast and looking too anxious. This time," he added with a wide grin, "I consciously slowed down and they said I was hotdogging...going too slow."

Cleveland Raps Minnesota, 9-6

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rick Manning hit a grand slam home run and got fined, and Don Hood says he'll pay it.

Manning's hitting and Hood's pitching helped the Cleveland Indians knock off the Minnesota Twins 9-6 Friday night in the first of a four-game series.

Manning, a 20-year-old rookie outfielder, slammed a Vic Albury fastball over the right-centerfield fence with none out in the eighth inning, increasing Cleveland's lead at that point to 9-4.

It was his first major league grand slam and only his third homer of the season. "I thought it was out when I hit it," he said. "I don't usually hit the ball that high. I was looking for another pitch away, but he came right down the middle, waist high."

As for the fine, it amounted to the kingly sum of $1 and came from the Indians' Kangaroo Kourt, which convenes in the clubhouse after each Cleveland victory.

"The last time I hit a homer, they fined me for going around the bases too fast and looking too anxious. This time," he added with a wide grin, "I consciously slowed down and they said I was hotdogging...going too slow."

Coal Miners Plan Meetings

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Coal miners planned Labor Day weekend meetings throughout the coalfields as a three-week-old wildcat walkout showed no signs of abating.

United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller and other national officers were scheduled to meet this afternoon here with 100 local union heads from the West Virginia area that initiated the walkout.

Nearly 80,000 of the nation's 125,000 soft coal miners remained idle today, despite strong words attacking the strikers from leaders of both the union and industry Friday.

"The present chaos, marked by defiance of court orders and near anarchy in the coalfields, comes as a bitter disappointment to the industry negotiators of the 1974 agreement," said Guy Farmer, general counsel for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, the industry bargaining group.

Scherer To Speak At Annual Farm Bureau Meeting

Robert D. Scherer, manager of the Food Division for Landmark, Inc., Columbus, and owner and operator of farms in Pickaway and Scioto Counties, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau.

ROBERT SCHERER

The meeting will be held Thursday, Sept. 4, at 7 p.m. at the 4-H and Grange Building at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The Pickaway County Porkettes and Pork Council will serve the dinner meal at the meeting. The Farm Bureau will provide one free meal per membership, with extra meals available for a fee.

The meeting, a climax of activities for the present year and the beginning of plans for 1976, will include adoption of important farm bureau policies and election of leadership, according to President Bob Black.

Scherer, as manager of the Landmark, Inc., food division, is responsible for egg processing plants in Norwalk and Columbiana, distribution warehouses in Columbus and Marietta, and meat packing plants in Gallipolis and Columbus.

Associated with Landmark since 1952, he started as a sales serviceman in Scioto County at Portsmouth. He has served as feed representative, regional sales supervisor, product-service director, and poultry and egg marketing manager before accepting his present position.

Scherer is a member of the Board of Directors of the North American Poultry and Egg Cooperatives of New York, and is a former director of the Poultry and Egg Institute of America and the American Egg Board of Chicago, Ill.

He is one of two directors representing cooperatives who serve on the board of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council headquartered at Fairless Hills, Pa.

Scherer, after graduating from Green Township High School in Scioto County and the Ohio State University College of Agriculture, completed Ohio State's Executive Development Program and several courses of the American Management Association.

He is a Lieutenant Colonel in the Marine Corps Reserves, assigned to the Selective Service System. He has recently completed studies in the Industrial College of the Armed Forces on the subject of "National Security Management."

He and his wife Peggy and their three sons live at 610 Garden Parkway.

Bloodless Coup In Peru Brings Army Chief To Power

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peru was calm today after a bloodless "palace coup" by army commanders who placed dapper Gen. Francisco Morales Bermudez at the helm of the socialist-oriented military regime.

Only a few riot troops were placed around important government buildings, and there were no reports of large troop movements, violence or opposition to the new regime.

Veteran observers predicted the new leftist rulers would continue the mixture of state socialism and capitalism adopted by ousted President Juan Velasco Alvarado, the leader of the seven-year Peruvian "revolutionary" government who had been criticized by some recently for his crackdown on the opposition and the press.

National radio said the communique announcing the coup said the revolt

Seek Energy Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield plans to meet with congressional Democrats next week on a new compromise plan to decontrol domestic oil prices.

And a White House spokesman says President Ford agreed to delay his veto of a measure extending the controls for six months until after Mansfield reports back on the results of the meeting.

That agreement emerged from a one-hour conference Friday involving Ford, Mansfield and House Speaker Carl Albert on how to proceed with restoring price controls and government oil-allocation authority after they expire by law at midnight Sunday.

Congress has twice refused to approve administration plans for gradual removal of controls over 30 or 39 months and instead passed a simple six-month extension of controls that Ford has vowed to veto.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the President still would veto that extension, but would be willing to sign a shorter extension, perhaps for 30 or 60 days, if he were confident that Congress would adopt a gradual decontrol plan within a few weeks.

Mrs. Marcos Visits Ohio

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Imelda Marcos, the globetrotting wife of the Philippine president, said here Friday that while her country is making new friends it also is keeping ties with old friends.

Mrs. Marcos, wife and unofficial ambassador of President Ferdinand E. Marcos, was referring to her recent visits to China and Cuba.

She denied reports that China is seeking to establish military bases on any of the 7,000 islands in her country. "The People's Republic has not asked and we would not grant it," she said.

The First Lady added that the end of the war in Vietnam has cleared the way for closer ties and affection between the Philippine people and Americans.

Mrs. Marcos is on a worldwide goodwill tour. She spoke at the International Women's Year Conference in Mexico in June and said she will address the United Nations Wednesday.

While in Cleveland she toured the Cleveland Clinic's cardiovascular disease department and cardiac laboratory. She has been instrumental in establishing the Philippine Heart Center for Asia, a facility modeled after the Cleveland Clinic's heart care center.

Two Manual Communication Courses Planned

The South Central Ohio Speech and Hearing Center will be offering to the public two courses in manual communication beginning September 8, at 7:30 p.m.

Manual communication is the form of communication used by many deaf people. The courses will be ten weeks in length and meet on Monday evenings for one hour at the South Central Ohio Speech and Hearing Center in Chillicothe.

The cost for the courses will be minimal to cover the cost of reproduction of course materials. One course will be offered at the intermediate level for those who have had the beginning courses and the other at the beginning level. The courses will be taught by Janet DuVall, president of D.E.A.F. Inc., Washington Court House.

Richard Ries, Director of the Speech and Hearing Center stated that class size would be limited. "When the manual communication courses were offered the last time there were some people who expressed interest but because class size had already been met were unable to take the courses." If anyone is interested in registering for the courses they should call the South Central Ohio Speech and Hearing Center in Chillicothe at 614-773-2679.

Middle East Pact Hinges On Congress

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — A senior U.S. official said today that the impending Sinai pact between Israel and Egypt will be conditional on approval by Congress of American technicians to man surveillance posts in territory handed back by Israel.

The United States will also reserve the right to unilaterally withdraw the approximately 200 technicians and support personnel under specified conditions, the official said as Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arrived in this Mediterranean resort for his fifth meeting with President Anwar Sadat during his current mission.

These assurances seemed designed to head off congressional apprehensions that Kissinger has overcommitted the United States in his talks with Israeli and Egyptian leaders.

Israel and Egypt are expected to initial the document early next week and sign it a few days later. This means the pact will have two signing ceremonies — one between Egypt and Israel alone and a second including the United States once Congress approves the stationing of American civilians in the area.

Sadat's spokesman, Tahseen Bashir, said in Alexandria that there was still a possibility the agreement could be initiated Sunday or Monday. However, he cautioned against assuming that the accord has been wrapped up. "People are jumping the gun saying everything is settled," Bashir said. "This is not true. There are issues still to be settled and we have to be patient."

Kissinger has said that the outstanding problems are just "nuances." "We are in the final phases of negotiations," said Kissinger, who held an 8 1/2-hour session Friday with the Israeli negotiating team.

He told newsmen he was "very optimistic" that the agreement will be concluded, though it was "not completely" ready for initialing by Israel and Egypt.

If the negotiations run according to schedule, the signing of the document would come before Congress could reach a decision on whether American civilians should man surveillance posts in the strategic Gidi and Mitla mountain pass areas to be vacated by Israel.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield plans to meet with congressional Democrats next week on a new compromise plan to decontrol domestic oil prices.

And a White House spokesman says President Ford agreed to delay his veto of a measure extending the controls for six months until after Mansfield reports back on the results of the meeting.

That agreement emerged from a one-hour conference Friday involving Ford, Mansfield and House Speaker Carl Albert on how to proceed with restoring price controls and government oil-allocation authority after they expire by law at midnight Sunday.

Congress has twice refused to approve administration plans for gradual removal of controls over 30 or 39 months and instead passed a simple six-month extension of controls that Ford has vowed to veto.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the President still would veto that extension, but would be willing to sign a shorter extension, perhaps for 30 or 60 days, if he were confident that Congress would adopt a gradual decontrol plan within a few weeks.

Mrs. Marcos Visits Ohio

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Imelda Marcos, the globetrotting wife of the Philippine president, said here Friday that while her country is making new friends it also is keeping ties with old friends.

Mrs. Marcos, wife and unofficial ambassador of President Ferdinand E. Marcos, was referring to her recent visits to China and Cuba.

She denied reports that China is seeking to establish military bases on any of the 7,000 islands in her country. "The People's Republic has not asked and we would not grant it," she said.

The First Lady added that the end of the war in Vietnam has cleared the way for closer ties and affection between the Philippine people and Americans.

Mrs. Marcos is on a worldwide goodwill tour. She spoke at the International Women's Year Conference in Mexico in June and said she will address the United Nations Wednesday.

While in Cleveland she toured the Cleveland Clinic's cardiovascular disease department and cardiac laboratory. She has been instrumental in establishing the Philippine Heart Center for Asia, a facility modeled after the Cleveland Clinic's heart care center.

Two Manual Communication Courses Planned

The South Central Ohio Speech and Hearing Center will be offering to the public two courses in manual communication beginning September 8, at 7:30 p.m.

Manual communication is the form of communication used by many deaf people. The courses will be ten weeks in length and meet on Monday evenings for one hour at the South Central Ohio Speech and Hearing Center in Chillicothe.

The cost for the courses will be minimal to cover the cost of reproduction of course materials. One course will be offered at the intermediate level for those who have had the beginning courses and the other at the beginning level. The courses will be taught by Janet DuVall, president of D.E.A.F. Inc., Washington Court House.

Richard Ries, Director of the Speech and Hearing Center stated that class size would be limited. "When the manual communication courses were offered the last time there were some people who expressed interest but because class size had already been met were unable to take the courses." If anyone is interested in registering for the courses they should call the South Central Ohio Speech and Hearing Center in Chillicothe at 614-773-2679.

Middle East Pact Hinges On Congress

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — A senior U.S. official said today that the impending Sinai pact between Israel and Egypt will be conditional on approval by Congress of American technicians to man surveillance posts in territory handed back by Israel.

The United States will also reserve the right to unilaterally withdraw the approximately 200 technicians and support personnel under specified conditions, the official said as Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arrived in this Mediterranean resort for his fifth meeting with President Anwar Sadat during his current mission.

These assurances seemed designed to head off congressional apprehensions that Kissinger has overcommitted the United States in his talks with Israeli and Egyptian leaders.

Israel and Egypt are expected to initial the document early next week and sign it a few days later. This means the pact will have two signing ceremonies — one between Egypt and Israel alone and a second including the United States once Congress approves the stationing of American civilians in the area.

Sadat's spokesman, Tahseen Bashir, said in Alexandria that there was still a possibility the agreement could be initiated Sunday or Monday. However, he cautioned against assuming that the accord has been wrapped up. "People are jumping the gun saying everything is settled," Bashir said. "This is not true. There are issues still to be settled and we have to be patient."

Kissinger has said that the outstanding problems are just "nuances." "We are in the final phases of negotiations," said Kissinger, who held an 8 1/2-hour session Friday with the Israeli negotiating team.

He told newsmen he was "very optimistic" that the agreement will be concluded, though it was "not completely" ready for initialing by Israel and Egypt.

If the negotiations run according to schedule, the signing of the document would come before Congress could reach a decision on whether American civilians should man surveillance posts in the strategic Gidi and Mitla mountain pass areas to be vacated by Israel.
